Dan Rhodes grew up in the Park Cities and graduated from Highland Park High school in 1990. He attended Washington and Lee University, graduating in 1994 with a Bachelor of Arts degree in commerce, double majoring in economics and French.

As part of a two and a half year program, Dan spent seventeen months working and studying in Belgium and France, obtaining double graduate business degrees from both the EM Lyon Business School in France and the University of Texas at Austin in 1999. Dan worked in management consulting and the software industry for 8 years before deciding to join his Dad, Tom Rhodes, and 2 brothers as a real estate agent in 2007.

The Rhodes Group is now part of Compass and was a founding agent group in the Dallas office as part of their 2018 expansion into Texas.

 Chair of the Day: Pam Carvey
 Speaker: Jeremy Strick
 Program: Conversation about the Nasher

The March 15, 2024 meeting was called to order by Jeff Sheehan with John Brown giving the Invocation and leading the Pledge of Allegiance and the National Anthem. Several people contributed to Happy Bucks celebrating JOYS in their life.

We particular need help at Ronald McDonald's dinner preparation.

Barbara Barney with Allie Beth Allmtean real estate agency was highlighted for her financial support of The Hub as a Market Place Advertiser.

Our membership moment was given by Pat Martin. Her "Legacy of Leadership Cohort" chose as their project the mentoring of new members. We have 147 members with four new members plus prospects in the wings. Mentoring helps with retention. Yet the club membership has decreased for several years due to attrition. Please invite friends to any guest speaker.

Susan Glen reminded us of April 20 and the next Food Bank Packing Day. Please consult the calendar online for the many social events. PCR Connect with be at Rye Restaurant on March 28.

We have NO MEETING on March 29 due to the Good Friday holiday. Richard Stanford and Jeff Brady welcome your suggestions for and please attend the next planning meeting at the Moody Y.

Pam Carvey, Past President, introduced Jeremy Strick, the Director of the Nasher Sculpture Garden, a modern and contemporary museum in downtown Dallas. She has been a member since the Nasher opened in 2002. Due to the sculptures and money given by Ray and Patsy Nasher, we are fortunate to have this outstanding internationally acclaimed museum in the Arts District. Mr. Strick and his staff have organized many ambitious exhibitions, innovating programming, plus Nasher Prize for the best contemporary sculpture. He gave an overview with visuals of the permanent collection and the outstanding exhibits and shows through the years. He asked "Why does it matter?" The impulse to create art is a universal desire of man and dates back to prehistoric time. He showed us a 'beautiful stone tool' created to cut meat but the artist took great care and the effort far exceeded its purpose.

Sculptures of ancient civilization told their history, their conquests, their daily life and depicted their Gods, leaders and aspirations, humans and animals in the traditional way using bronze, wood, ceramic, stone. But starting around Pablo Picasso and the cubism movement, we see inventive and creative new techniques and materials being experimented with such as steal girders, resin, resin and wood, glass using industrial techniques. He showed slides of modern exhibits that are designed to engage the viewer: a room filled with balloons, or a room with colored dirt, or ropes to walk in and over using booties or architectural space for social interaction among the carefully designed wooden beams. One of the most successful projects was the Nasher XChange. Ten artists were commissioned to create works that were installed in public spaces throughout Dallas. One sculpture in Vickery Park captured the various ethnic groups that had immigrated to that area. Another art installation of 'A Painted Pier' at White Rock Lake, or the giant 'Tin man' in Deep Ellum evoked interest and surprise. My favorite example was the sculptures at a hospital that suggested the

THOUGHTS ON...

Property

When neither their property nor their honor is touched, the majority of men live content. ~ Niccolo Machiavelli

Property has its duties as well as its rights. ~ Thomas Brummond

Gambling promises the poor what property performs for the rich-- something for nothing.

~ George Bernard Shaw

If there is anything in the world that can really be called a man's property, it is surely that which is the result of his mental activity. ~ Arthur Schopenhauer

Our houses are such unwieldy property that we are often imprisoned rather than housed in them. ~ Henry David Thoreau

Wherever there is great property, there is great inequality... for one very rich man, there must be at least five hundred poor. ~ Adam Smith

The best government rests on the people, and not on the few, on persons and not on property, on the free development of public opinion and not on authority. ~ George Bancroft

No man's life, liberty or property are safe while the legislature is in session. ~ Judge Gideon J. Tucker

HE WHO LAUGHS, LASTS

A senator sat in his office. Out of boredom, he decided to look in his old filing cabinet. He found an old brass lamp. "This will look good on my mantel," While polishing the lamp, a genie granted him three wishes. "I would like a cold Coke now." He gets it and drinks it. He can think more clearly. His second wish: "I wish to be on an island with beautiful women." He's on an island with gorgeous women. He tells the genie his third and last wish. "I wish I'd never have to work again." Instantly, he was back in his government office.

The museum has outdoor space as well as indoor. Yes, the mirrored building next door has created heat and light issues for the museum which is not ideal but must be worked around.

The Northpark sculptures are selected and maintained by Nancy Nasher and her husband, David are a separate identity from the Nasher Sculpture Center.
