TODAY'S PROGRAM

Program Chair of the Day: Happy Franklin

Scott Schilling Increase Your Personal Significance

I feel extremely blessed to be able to follow my heart and passion to help others through sharing years of experience across a range of industries. When asked what I do, the short answer is: "I help people, help people!"

After spending more than thirty years in the sales, marketing, training, management, and speaking arenas, I am uniquely qualified to help individuals and organizations achieve the success they desire. With vast experience over a range of industries, my value-added conceptual expertise in all aspects of business shouts out loud and clear.

While going to the University of Iowa on a football scholarship, I became a licensed life insurance agent at the age of eighteen. In his first month in business, I sold over a quarter million dollars worth of insurance. It's not hard to understand that with the years of personal selling background I have embodied, armed with a Bachelor of Business Administration degree with majors in marketing and insurance, I possess the expertise necessary to educate, empower, and inspire others to achieve "their" success.

Since my years at Iowa, I've worked for and with Fortune 500 companies, small businesses, service organizations and individuals, to not only grow personally but to prepare me with a breadth of knowledge and experience to aid in sharing that collection of expertise. When it comes to understanding the opportunity at hand, there are few others that can grasp the issues, diagnose the problems, design the remedy, and implement the cure as well.

As an Internationally acclaimed Trainer, Speaker, Author, Success Expert and Philanthropist, I'm honored to have led the field in training others, presenting as a top professional speaker, writing inspiration works with practical application and executing the very success strategies I teaches.

My goal is to maximize the potential and God-given talents of all the individuals and organizations I encounter. I work from the understanding that "to whom much is entrusted-much is expected!"

accepted. He was looking forward to the next meeting in a week.

Shawn Foster introduced our speaker today, Dr. Matthew Wilson, a political science professor at SMU, who spoke on the Mid-Term Elections. He began by saying that the last few years have been eventful times. He said he tells his students that it is a time of change in U.S. politics. It is a month from the mid-terms, and it is the first opportunity for voters to weigh in on the 2016 elections. Donald Trump has been a different kind of President. He gave an overview of where things stand now. Now the Republicans hold a majority in the U.S. Congress. For the Democrats to take control, they need to gain twenty-three seats in the House of Representatives. The Democrats will pick up some seats in the House, but there is a big difference in predictions of how many. The seats most critically in play are suburban districts. For example, in Congressional District 32 incumbent Pete Sessions and challenger Colin Allred are in a tight battle. In the Senate change is not certain; this election cycle favors the Republicans. There are vulnerable Democrat incumbents in states that President Trump won. It is likely that the Republicans will hold the Senate. However, Democrats have a chance to pick up Senate seats in the West. The Democrats had hoped to win in Texas and Tennessee, but these seem to be slipping away from them. There has been an enormous amount of Democrat money poured into Texas, $38 million, the largest amount ever for a Senate race. What determines the outcome will be the relative enthusiasm to vote. Most of this year the Democrats had more excitement. In the last few weeks the Republican excitement has matched the Democrats.

THOUGHTS ON ... NOMINATIONS FOR 2019-2020

Myself

I often quote myself. It adds spice to my conversation.

~ George Bernard Shaw

To punish me for my contempt for authority, fate made me an authority myself.

~ Albert Einstein

I myself am made entirely of flaws, stitched together with good intentions.

~ Augusten Burroughs

I celebrate myself, and sing myself.

~ Walt Whitman

Inside myself is a place where I live all alone and that's where you renew your springs that never dry up.

~ Pearl Buck

Where so many hours have been spent in convincing myself that I am right, is there not some reason to fear I may be wrong?

~ Jane Austen

I care not so much what I am to others as what I am to myself.

~ Michel de Montaigne

I was always looking outside myself for strength and confidence, but it comes from within. It is there all the time.

~ Anna Freud

Report of the RCPC Nominating Committee

HE WHO LAUGHS, LASTS

- Two hydrogen atoms meet. One says, 'I've lost my electron.' The other says 'Are you sure?' The first replies, 'Yes, I'm positive.'
- Did you hear about the Buddhist who refused Novocain during a root canal? His goal was to transcend dental medication.
- There was the person who sent ten puns to friends, with the hope that at least one of the puns would make them laugh. No pun in ten did.
