Pete Delkus, Chief Meteorologist – WFAA Texas Weather!

Emmy award winning, Chief Meteorologist, Pete Delkus, joined the WFAA weather department in June 2005 and quickly won the respect of our North Texas viewers by providing timely and accurate forecasts. When there is severe weather – tornadoes, hail, or flash flooding, viewers have come to rely on Pete's steadfast and thorough approach to his work.

Since he arrived, Pete has won six Emmy Awards for weather anchoring and special show hosting. Delkus is board certified by the American Meteorological Society and the National Weather Association. He attended Mississippi State University for his masters level meteorology courses, and holds a Bachelors of Science from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville (SIUE).

From 1996 to 2005, Delkus was the chief meteorologist at WCPO-TV, the ABC affiliate in Cincinnati, OH. Delkus made his mark in Cincinnati as the "severe weather leader" by his exclusive coverage of the deadly Tornado of '99. He received many honors during this tenure including a pair of first place Associated Press (AP) Awards for best regularly scheduled weather.

Prior to joining the Cincinnati television station Delkus worked as a meteorologist for four years at WFTV, the ABC affiliate in Orlando, Florida.

Delkus also has a long history as an outstanding athlete. As an All-America pitcher, he had an all star college career including a trip to the college world series. In fact, he still holds several records as a pitcher at SIUE. Out of college Delkus signed in 1987 with the Minnesota Twins organization. Delkus enjoyed a successful career earning several awards including the "Minnesota Twins Minor League Player of the Year" and the Rolands Relief Man. His career ended prematurely due to a serious elbow injury. In all, Delkus played professional baseball for 6 years with the Twins organization.

Today, Pete enjoys spending his leisure time with his family: Wife-Jacque, daughter-Emily, and son-Peter. Whether it's practicing ball, swimming or playing in the backyard, being with them is a top priority. Delkus is also an avid outdoorsman who enjoys hunting, fishing and anything that involves being outside - including his daily run and workouts.

Library had opened to the public on May 1, 2013. They also hosted all of the living Presidents at the dedication in April, 2013. The Library and Museum is part of the National Archives which oversees federal records and presidential libraries. He said that President Franklin D. Roosevelt realized the importance of presidential records, so he started a library next to his home. President Hoover liked the idea so he had one built next to his home, also. President Obama has decided to put his library in Chicago. The Library at SMU was not paid for with federal dollars. It is one of the three presidential libraries in Texas. He said that part of his job is helping move out of the White House; everything must be out by noon on the first day of the new presidency. Everything first went to a warehouse before it was moved to the new building. The building is 225,000 square feet; half of it is the museum which houses 43,000 artifacts. The other half houses the foundation and institute. The institute is focusing on global health and women's issues. President and Mrs. Bush were very involved with the project from the beginning. Both of them and offices and entertaining spaces in the building; there are public meeting spaces, as well. The Library houses 70 Million pages of paper references. There is a five-year delay before Freedom of Information requests can be granted, but they are not open for the requests. The staff processes about half a million pages a year. President Blue Bush was the first President with electronic records. Emails are a rich treasure of information on how the White House works. There are four million pictures and 60,000 audio and video tapes and news feeds. The Presidential Libraries are about providing information, records and education. The Library interacts a lot with SMU, but anyone ask for records.

The Weather

No matter how rich you become, how famous or powerful, when you die the size of your funeral will still pretty much depend on the weather. ~ Michael Pritchard

Don't knock the weather. If it didn't change once in a while, nine out of ten people couldn't start a conversation. ~ Kin Hubbard

When all is said and done, the weather and love are the two elements about which one can never be sure. ~ Alice Hoffman

Weather is a great bluffer. I guess the same is true of our human society -- things can look dark, then a break shows in the clouds, and all is changed. ~ E. B. White
