President Jean Maychack called the meeting to order and shared a story about her grandchildren. She then reminded all to consider attending the District Conference in April and noted that sign up sheets were out on the registration table including volunteering at the Sleep in Heavenly Peace Service Project which will be building bunk beds for children who do not currently have a bed. If you would like to volunteer please ask Laura for an information sheet about the project.

Bill Nance gave the invocation and led in the Pledge of Allegiance and Four Way Test. Andrea Wall welcomed guests of Rotarians which included: Scott Meyer (guest of Linda Groover), Veleta Jenkins (guest of Leronda Jackson), Sylvia Moyler (guest of Carl Moyler), Steve Goubeaux (guest of Kim Bramlage), Lily Garner (guest of Cindy Garner), Ashley Lackovich (guest of Jan Hillman) and Charlie Doll (guest of Evelyn Davidson).

Secretary Kim Bramlage then came to the podium to recognize those birthdayites in attendance and shared with us True or False facts. Kim then reminded us about the upcoming NCAA Game Watch Party on March 19th and Rotary on the Road on March 30th. Be sure to sign up at one of the 8 locations to attend this meeting.

Kim then started off the Day-10s with one of her own, a Day-10 in honor of Ann Charles Watts and Heather Martin who were honored over the weekend as part of the WIBN 25 Women to Watch ceremony. Brad Roediger then gave a Day-10 to announce a volunteer opportunity on behalf of the Rotary Restored Citizens Committee and opportunity to provide interview guidance and resume help to those in need. Jan Hillman gave a Day-100 for her birthday and the Human Race Theatre and Brunner Literacy Center. Gerry Chadwick gave a Day-100 as a congrats to Ann Charles Watts and Heather Martin also to recognize the kick off of the YWCA 21 Days to Racial Equity and Justice Challenge and of course for UD basketball. Darlene Langhout gave a Day-100 for the We Care Arts amazing Auction event held over the weekend and for a touching moment with her daughter and thanks to Mike Houser and Paul Gruner for their support of the event. Ty Swain gave a Day-10 for a powerful memorial event he attended for Rotarian John Staten over the weekend. Shaun Yu gave a Day-100 for his birthday, to recognize Diane Farrell for the TedX Dayton Women's event and a shameless plug for the upcoming pledge drive for Discover Classical/DPR. John Lyman gave a Day-100 for both UD and Wright State basketball and for the information on the Boy Scouts in the paper. Steve Naas gave a Day-100 for the memorials of John Staten and Irv Bieser that were both held on Saturday. Kate Vriner gave a Day-50 for Rotary Bowling and their support of her Girl Scout Daughter's cookie sales to the tune of 50 boxes. Lisa Wagner gave a Day-100 for her recent birthday and also all the hopping events taking place in Dayton.

President Jean then returned to the podium to call on Chuck Vella to introduce our newest Rotarian Mike Pearsall. She then called on Chair of the Day Greg Birkemeyer to introduce our speaker. Greg gave an introduction of the history and evolution of the Rotary International involvement with the elimination of Polio. He then shared a brief introduction of our own Kim Bramlage to tell us about her recent journey to India.

Kim, along with 48 other Rotarians from the US, Canada and Barbados, went on a 10 day journey to India that combined participation in India's National Polio Immunization activities, interaction with local Rotary clubs and their projects, and visiting some of India's most extraordinary sites. Kim's initial reaction upon arrival was..."I'm in India—OMG! It's hard to describe this place. Opulent hotel, beautiful scenery, people everywhere, poor and rich, exotic birds, mosques, monkeys, great food, tempting textiles and more!" She was overwhelmed by incredibly breathtaking sights, both beautiful and horrible. There are definitely two different worlds in one country from laundry on the street and make shift houses to 5 star opulent hotels.

Rotary on the Road

This year's annual Rotary on The Road will take place on March 30th. On this date we will not have our usual Monday luncheon meeting at Sinclair, instead Rotarians will sign up for one of the following Rotarian locations. It's a chance to find out what some of your fellow Rotarians do every day for their vocation.

Please sign up to visit one of these locations—you must be signed up to attend. You can either sign up at a Monday meeting or email Laura laura@daytonrotary.com. There are limits set on the number of people per location so please give your first and second choice to attend.

Kim and the group visited the Taj Mahal, shopped at outdoor markets, and attended all-female Rotarian meetings. The group visited an artificial limb factory where people can get limbs in a matter of hours for free. They rode on an elephant up a mountain and had a crazy Jeep ride down the mountain after touring the Amer Fort.

While transitioning to polio and Rotary activities they visited St. Stephens Hospital and learned about the ward for polio victims. They have a 1-2 month waiting list for free surgery to fix debilitating limb deformities. They had lunch with the Delhi Midtown Rotary Club and heard an update on polio eradication from the World Health Organization.

They boarded a bus and spent time walking through neighborhoods and villages while participating in the Polio Rally in Delhi. They even spotted the Dali Lama! Kim stated, "When your day begins with a surprise sighting of the Dalai Lama, you know it's gonna be a great day!!" Immunization day was a success with so many cute little ones who received the two drops of vaccine that will keep India polio free! Kim stated,

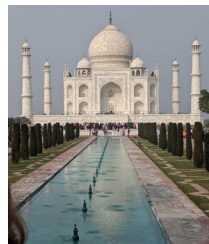

"The faces of these little people (along with their parents and grandparents) are so heart warming. Proud to be a Rotarian!" They also went door-to-door immunizing children. The project was challenging to say the least, but it was important work and hopefully saved many children from ever experiencing polio with just 2 drops of vaccine costing just 60 cents a dose.

Kim indicated that the accommodations and trip planning and organization were superb and her new Rotary friendships will hopefully last a lifetime. The site seeing was spectacular and the beauty in the sights, sounds and faces of India were heart warming, and heartbreaking. And the mission was accomplished...they joined people all over India providing the vaccine and spreading the word that we are so close to making sure no one ever has to suffer from polio again. Even though India was declared polio-free in 2014, Rotary cannot stop the immunization there because of the closeness to Pakistan and Afghanistan and the migration back and forth. The village they visited is a predominantly Muslim village, and people there were regularly visiting their Muslim families in Pakistan.
