

Future Finance is a financial literacy simulation program for high school students provided by Liberty Public Schools and Liberty School District Foundation. It provides students a real life experience in handling their finances as a 26 year old. It's a fun, tangible way to experience the reality of making financial decisions about life's necessities. They learn what it costs to maintain a household, family, and children, why it's important to do well in school, choose a career, and plan wisely. All Liberty Public Schools juniors will participate.

Here are some things students learned from Future Finance

- "How fast money goes!"
- "How savings accounts work over time."
- "It helped me know more about my life in the future , what I need to do."
- "Gave me a reality check."
- "I thought it was cool to challenge my financial skills."
