President's Message

I've lost track of what day it is. That's the sign of a good getaway and the answer as to why the at random times the last two weeks. Although I'm writing this from Newport Beach in Southern t out between beach houses and see a tall mountain with snow on it. Not so far from home after a

We don't get far away these days. From Facebook to reading emails I've learned that it has been missing that so much. Cold in Southern California means 50.

It's a bit like walking into the past where Pat and I are currently sitting. I came here often as a y uncle raised their 5 kids not far away. I lived with my mom about an hour's drive. We'd wind ou orange trees and eucalyptus groves to visit our cousins nearer the beach. I recall tuna salad san hardboiled eggs, the fragrance of the soap in my aunt's shower, my uncle's sweet cigar smell in t I recall the big, caring smiles of my aunt and uncle. I remember their kindness. I remember fee

In my day to day life in Summit, I don't take much time to pause like I do when I'm away. Ther meetings to attend, work to accomplish, volunteer time, exercise, family, phone calls to make. I have a lot of energy.

Rotarians have a lot of energy. Someone has an idea. The idea turns into a passion. A project i neat thing about Rotary. With a little help from friends, good things happen. You can do a lot yo have the world of Rotary behind you, even larger things can be accomplished. The idea to eradic one person. The idea to help people when natural disasters struck began as one tent and turned Crutches for Africa, an idea brewed right in our own District has given mobility to thousands cripp Witnessing students without textbooks planted the seed for the Guatemala Literacy Project. Rot this. We can be proud.

Not every project turns into something big. Good things happen one person at a time. It's the li change the course of a life. Imagine what can happen when a kid goes to RYLA and for the first t she is not alone in their turbulent teenage thoughts and one day starts a non-profit to bring clean community (it happened!), a high school student reads her short story to an audience of 100 peo has a talent for writing, a single mom earns a Rotary scholarship at CMC, becomes a scientist an cancer (we can dream big!), a hungry diner at the Community Dinner eventually starts a feeding forward to others who need a hand up. Wouldn't it be cool if every person we touch pays it forw never know all the effects of our philanthropy. Our Rotary work touches people one person at a

Take a pause in your day today. Remember the little things that shifted the course of your life. Strike up an old passion. Make a difference. Help another Rotarian follow their dream.

Pat and I still need to drive back to Colorado, but so far these are my top three favorite bumper

Testimony from fellow Rotarian Sandy Mortensen

Lou Wagner and I exchanged our Frisco townhouse and car for a month with a Rotarian from Nevada at the airport and told us where to find the keys as we had about a 2 hour drive to get to her everything in the closets, cleaned out the refrigerator, left some wine and spent a great month in Frisco. The Rotarian we exchanged with spent another month in Colorado by exchanging with another person so we met her while she was still in the country. IT was easy, painless, and a lot of fun!
