Dr Jonathan Barnett is a forensic engineer who was a member of the American Society of Civil Engineers/Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) World Trade Centre Investigation Team. He also testified before the US House Committee on Science's May 1, 2002 Hearing On the Collapse of the World Trade Centre. Jonathan will offer first-hand knowledge of the outcomes and lessons learned from the collapse of Towers 1 & 2 on 9/11.

Currently Jonathan lives in Melbourne where he is the Technical Director for Olsson Fire & Risk and applies the lessons learnt from 9/11 to day to day engineering practice in Australia.
