SHOES FOR ORPHAN SOULS CARAVAN 5/13/22: Our club donated five pairs of shoes and $4,066 ($66 more than last year). In addition to our member donations, Mary Immaculate School contributed $200 as ATSU also did. Two Truman clubs, under direction of Rashmi Prasad, contributed over $500 and the five pairs of shoes. District 6040 will be turning over 500 pairs of shoes to Buckner, representing 30% of the shoes they will collect this year. Dana Delaware said the shoes will be sent to Peru.

2022 RAY KLINGINSMITH GRADUATING HIGH SCHOOL STUDENT SCHOLARSHIP RECIPIENTS:

MARTY BACHMAN, MANAGING EDITOR, KIRKSVILLE DAILY EXPRESS

Marty moved to Kirksville in February this year and took over this position. He has been in the newspaper business for most of the last 33 years. (see his interesting history in Dale Schenewerk's introduction attached to the cover email). The newspaper has been under new ownership since September.

Marty spoke about the changes he has made to the Kirksville Daily Express which include adding more local news which had been sorely missing in recent years. He encouraged us to share local news and human interest stories with him. You can reach him at 701 E. LaHarpe, Suite C, 660-665-4663 or by email <mbachman@kirksvilledailyexpress.com>. He will be losing his sports editor, Austin Miller, in early June and would appreciate any suggestions for a replacement. Marty spoke about more changes to come to make the newspaper more appealing. A campaign for more subscribers will be undertaken shortly.

50-50 Drawing: Ralph Cupelli did not pull the ace of spades; pot now up to $212. Photos on Page 2!
