GUEST SPEAKER: LISA J. OLIVER, THE COOPERATIVE BANK OF CAPE COD

As of March 6, 2017, the highest leadership position within The Cooperative Bank of Cape Cod became the responsibility of Lisa J. Oliver, as she became the fifth President in the bank's 95-year history and the successor to Joel Crowell (who was retiring after a very successful 47-year career within this regional financial icon). The Cooperative Bank of Cape Cod was founded in 1921 as a mutual community bank serving the residents of the Cape. The types of highly personalized products and services offered to both residential and business customers have grown over the years to the point that the bank's Vision Statement reads, "By being POSITIVELY DIFFERENT, we provide to customers and colleagues an exceptional experience and an environment of mutual respect... We invest our resources in the communities where we live and work and in the organizations that help improve the lives of individuals, families, and businesses across Cape Cod."

Lisa Oliver brings 30-plus years of financial services experience, including 25 years at Cleveland, Ohio-based KeyBank where she undertook numerous senior leadership roles - most recently as Executive Vice President and Head of Business Banking, leading the company's $3 billion business banking unit. Previously at KeyBank, she had served 13 years as President of the KeyBank's Greater Cleveland District, overseeing the 85 branch locations as well as the commercial and private banking sales teams. An additional area of experience and proficiency was her management of KeyBank's extensive philanthropic initiatives.

Lisa expressed her passionate advocacy for volunteerism. For two decades, she was deeply engaged within Ohio's charitable community and served in numerous leadership capacities within organizations as diverse as the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame, United Way, American Heart Association, Gilmour Academy, and Cleveland Botanical Garden (among many others). She was Co-Executive Chair of the Young Professionals Key Business Networking Group and was honored by the YWCA Greater Cleveland as a Woman of Achievement Recipient.

In summarizing her the comfort level in her new position, Lisa indicated, "I am a community banker whose career has been focused on clients, community, and employees. Banking is all about people: the expertise to offer the right solutions to meet a client's financial needs, the service ease, and speed to exceed client expectations and the career dialogues to enhance growth opportunities for employees. The Coop has demonstrated how such a focus has returned benefits to the organizations in its footprint and the communities in which it serves. Its mission aligns perfectly with my business values, and I'm thrilled to be joining this wonderful team and the Cape Cod community"

Lisa is a graduate of Colgate University (International Relations and French), and the Executive Leadership Program at Case Western Reserve University. She was raised in Kingston, New York, and spent many years in the Northeast prior to moving to Ohio to join KeyBank. In addition, she was no stranger to Cape Cod, as she spent much time here as a visitor. Her love of the Cape's close-knit community was a driving force in her desire to relocate here with her husband, two children, and two black labs.

As Joel Crowell noted as he expressed his pride in passing the torch, "Lisa embodies the customer- and community-first philosophy that has always been at the heart of The Cooperative Bank of Cape Cod. She has a proven track record of leadership, team building, and community service...Lisa will continue to build upon the tremendous relationships we've developed with our customer, while shepherding the Bank into its next hundred years."

Contact Information: The Cooperative Bank of Cape Cod, • Operations Center, 25 Benjamin Franklin Way, Hyannis, MA 02601 • Customer Assistance (508)-568-3400, • <www.mycapcodbank.com>, Lisa Oliver, direct (508)-568-3370 • <loliver@mycapcodbank.com>.

(Note: a mutual meet-and-greet with new President Lisa Oliver is scheduled at the six branch offices from 9 to 10 am on successive Wednesdays from May 3rd to June 28th.)
