Guest Speaker Allison McEachern – Allison presented the club how-to and why for social media for Rotary. Allison stated that she studied and did research on Rotary before joining and she often hears the question, “So what is Rotary and what does it do”? Often, she struggles with the response, not because of not knowing what we do, but because Rotary is such a multi-faceted organization. The message is not often clear and we want people to support us, either by joining or donations. With social media, the message must be relevant and engaging to people locally. It has to hit home and make Rotary and what we are doing appealing. She asked the questions, “How do we all think and communicate about Rotary to others? What is our pitch and do we need to change it up?” She mentioned that tagging is important, meaning tagging other Rotarians in Facebook posts as well as checking-in when at a meeting. If anyone would like a lesson on how to setup a profile, use Facebook, or needs more information, there are many Rotarians that are willing to help. She concluded by stating, “Let’s not hide our message! Let it shine!”
