PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY THE ROTARY CLUB OF YARMOUTH

Vol.23 No. 05

July 31, 2015

The Main Event

MOON REPORT: PHIL MORRIS, ACE MOON REPORTER

Moon Report observations from Phil Morris: July has TWO full moons, but not on the same day. ● The definition of the current 1st quarter moon – “rises at noon, high overhead at sunset, sets around midnight” (describes some members of the club?). ● Most discovered dwarf planets don’t have names yet – how about Sleepy, Grumpy, Dopey, & Sleazy? ● From the Weather Channel - Is it OK to pee in the ocean? Well, all the fish do, & Minke Whales contribute over 250 gallons daily. Any complaints, take them to Pat Armstrong. ● Etc., etc.

AWARDS

AG Steve Albright presented Bob Wells and Pres. Tammy Glivinski with membership awards for sponsoring new members into our club. He also presented Howard Kendall with his Paul Harris +3.

GUEST SPEAKER: “STORY TELLER” BETH MURPHY

Jim Saben & President Tammy met self-described “Story Teller” Beth Murphy at 2015 (Joint) District Conference in Mystic, CT, and then again at the recent Rotary International Convention held in São Paulo, Brazil, where she presented her film, “What Tomorrow Brings.” Beth is a documentary director, producer, and author who founded the independent film production company, Principle Pictures in 1999, committed to giving voice to the voiceless and raising awareness about important social issues. She is also an Adjunct Professor at Suffolk University and a Visiting Professor at American University Paris. She currently serves as Board Chair for the International Institute of Boston (an organization helping immigrants and refugees).

Beth presented powerful excerpts from her film about Razia Jan, (a Rotarian, by the way) founder of the Zabuli Education Center, who achieved a rare victory: “She has won over a suspicious, fearful community and built the strong base of support required for her school, the Zabuli Education Center, to thrive. She has managed to both directly challenge the men in power—to show them what a determined woman can do—but, more importantly, to invite their input and participation, to bring them along in the process” (from <http://www.yesmagazine.org/people-power/place-where-teaching-girls-poison-razia-jan-zabuli-men>).

The K-12 school she opened in 2008 has an attendance rate of 93%, a retention rate of 96%, and has dramatically increased enrollment year after year (today serving more than 480 students). The leading men in the community—the village elders—who once refused to look Razia in the eyes, now praise her efforts and support the school’s growth. Girls who once were silent about forced engagements and early marriages are now speaking up and finding ways to negotiate more time in school.

Now, Razia faces a new challenge, a uniquely Afghan glass ceiling. Her first class will be graduating in 2016, but they have nowhere to go to continue their education. Therefore, Razia has launched a new project: She is raising money to build the first rural women’s college in Afghanistan. Building this girls’ college solves a seemingly intractable problem in Afghanistan—the lack of higher education available to girls in rural communities. This is not a western answer to an Afghan problem. It is an Afghan answer to an Afghan problem. Students will graduate in two years with marketable, much-needed skills and the ability to work in schools, businesses, government, and health care—careers that are compatible with being a married, observant Afghan woman.
