Today's Program

Mark Joeckel Downtown Arlington Murals

Mark is the Executive Director of Arlington Proud. In 2010, Mark created Arlington, Texas - Proud To Call it Home. This interactive, digital village was launched to create conversations about the great quality of life in Arlington, Texas. He is involved in economic and community redevelopment. Mark strives to help people create healthy neighborhoods based on Proud's Priorities and assist them in marketing their communities to potential residents. He formed Arlington, Texas Proud to Call it Home to serve as a base for this process of re-neighboring. Neighborhood by neighborhood, Proud to Call it Home is working to create interesting, healthy and fun places to live and start a new businesses.

Over the past 25 years Mark has served as a Sr. Pastor, Urban Missionary, Non-Profit Executive Director, Record and Video Producer, Commercial Real Estate Executive and a Chamber of Commerce VP and Advertising Sale Director.

Mark is a 1982 graduate of Arlington High School, a 1986 graduate of Concordia University in Austin (Communications) and a 1992 graduate of Concordia Seminary in St. Louis, Missouri. He lives in Arlington and has three kids, ages 20, 17 and 14.

Please join me in a Warm Sunrise Rotary Welcome for Mark Joeckel.

"It's not necessary to go far and wide. I mean, you can really find exciting and inspiring things within your hometown."
