

Who's a ROTARIAN?

He's a person in your neighborhood.

When SKIP BEAN was installed as the Rotary Club's president on June 28, he became the third Henry D. Bean to lead the 90-year-old club in putting into practice Rotary's motto: Service Above Self.

Skip's father and grandfather both saw active participation in Rotary as vital for members of the business community in a small town. When Skip joined the club over 25 years ago, he discovered there is much more to Rotary than he expected.

"Rotary is a networking group of 1.2 million people worldwide, but it is about more than building relationships," he said. "Rotary is about developing friendships and helping others around the world."

As a lifelong resident of Haddonfield, Skip enjoys walking the town with his family, catching up with friends old and new, and "taking part in the many activities here, including the concerts on Friday nights in July." A huge music fan, Skip is also an outdoor enthusiast who loves camping and getting out on the water, especially along the Eastern Shore of Virginia. He particularly enjoys these activities when his wife Kris is with him, along with their daughter Rebecca, and sons Andrew (USMC retired), Christian (USMC/Camp Lejeune, NC), and Jackson (who lives in Hubert, NC).

Skip and Rick Bean are at the helm of Henry D. Bean & Sons, an insurance brokerage established in 1932 and widely recognized over three generations for integrity and enduring relationships. Their office is in a historic building on Kings Highway, opposite the Borough Hall.

The key elements of the Bean family's success? "Personal service and being present, visible and active in the community," said Skip.
