Program Highlights:

Bonnie Ristau, Nancy Miller and Mel Corroto of Andrews House outlined the program called "Getting Ahead," which is part of the STEP coalition. STEP stands for Support, Empowerment and Partnerships, and enrolls 8-12 people at a time in a session of 17 classes over 8 ½ weeks. The program aims to help individuals step up out of poverty; they are referred by social service agencies, churches, schools, the courts, and others. The classes are led by trained facilitators and also by a graduate of the program. Transportation and child care are provided, and a hot meal precedes the class. The atmosphere strives to be relevant, respectful, safe, and challenging.

Topics include economic stability, theory of change, income inequality, understanding social "classes," and how to access resources in housing. On completion of the course, each graduate is paired with an ally who can guide them in their progress.

Our Rotary Club has donated funds to this program so that each graduate receives a $25 gift card. In addition, we will also cook and serve one of the hot meals for the class on April 12, 2017.
