Program Highlights:

Marlene Casini, exec. Director of the Delaware County Foundation, gave an overview of charitable giving generally in the U.S. and of the work of the Delaware County Fdn.

Giving in our country comes 71% from individuals, 9% from bequests, 16% from foundations and 5% from corporations. The top two areas designated for gifts are religion 32% and education 15%.

The amount given annually in Ohio is $6.63 billion. One in four Ohioans make an annual gift. Most of these go to education, human services and health.

The Delaware County Foundation was founded in 1995 and funded with a $100,000 donation. It now has $12.6 under management. Programs at the Delaware City Schools, Lutheran Social Services, Buckeye Valley High School and Delaware EMS, and the Hunger Food Alliance are among the local beneficiaries.

There are many reasons people give: to leave a legacy; to make a difference; following a major life event; to involve the family and the next generation; and to recognize a business community commitment.

Why have a community foundation? It promotes a strong healthy community, encourages growth over time, and supports future, unknown needs.
