Logs for today, trees for tomorrow Jim White to present Feb. 9 program

Jim White, who worked in the lumber industry, will speak at the Rotary Club of Estes Park on Thursday, Feb. 9, at their regular noon meeting. He will discuss sustainable logging practices as practiced in the redwood lumber industry 1949-1956.

Club member Jim White

After serving in the U.S. Navy during World War II, White graduated from the University of Michigan in 1950 with a degree in wood technology. He founded a wholesale lumber distribution business, Jim White Lumber Sales, in 1950. After retiring in 1982, Jim and his wife Joanne moved to their vacation home in Estes Park in 1985. They have three daughters, six grandchildren, and two great grandchildren, all living within one hour of Estes Park. Jim served as a director and officer of the Estes Valley Land Trust (EVL) for 25 years, retiring from EVLT in 2015.

Feb. 2 meeting highlights

President Thor Homme rang the bell at 12:00. The Invocation was presented by Lee Lasson. Dave Evans led us in song and the Pledge of Allegiance.

Guest Introductions by Karol Rinehart:

- Visiting Rotarians - Ron Randle, ADG. Ft Collins Foothills.
- Guests of Rotarians - Sue Fereday introduced her daughter, Laura.
- Visitor - Karen Reed

Announcements

- Lee Lasson announced that Duck Central will be located next to Village Pizza.
- Pete Sumey reported that wife Lois is recovering from a blood clot in her lung.
- Tara Moenning read from several letters from past Rotary Scholarship award winners.
- Phil Moenning announced changes to the spring music show planned for April 7 & 8 at the Stanley Concert Hall. On April 7, the show will feature 6 music groups playing folk, country, bluegrass, and Western style music. The show on April 8 will feature Brad Fitch and the TropiCowboy Band. The theme of the two concerts is "Salute to Americana".

Happy Money

- Rob Ludlum reported on shoulder problems. He was especially pleased that Lee featured Al Wasson's prayer during the invocation. Al was Rob's sponsor for Rotary membership.
- Sue Fereday is happy that her daughter is back home and well.
- Bob Brunson is having a heart valve replaced. He believes that the doctors will know what they are doing.
- Roger Thorp is glad that the weather problems experienced in the valley did not move up here.
- Karen and Scott Thompson are planning to attend the RI convention in Atlanta.

Program

Karen McClure introduced speaker Craig Secher.

Adjournment

President Thor adjourned the meeting with the 4 way test.

Respectfully submitted by Pete Sumey, scribe

Meet 2017 Duck Race Mascot Lucky

Thanks to Gary Hazelton, honorary member of our club, we have a portfolio of images to promote this year's Duck Race.

Meet Mascot Lucky dressed in 1917 hiking attire. The 2017 Duck Race celebrates the Estes Park Centennial.

See this week's EP News and Trail-Gazette for our article on the theme, prizes, charities and sponsors of this year's race.

Would you like an image to add to your email signature so you can encourage your friends to support the Duck Race?

Rotary Quote of the Week

"The world needs Rotary more than ever. It needs our courage, our optimism, and our idealism. It needs the voice of tolerance, cooperation, and hope that we can offer. It needs the example of an organization that has proven that the citizens of all countries can work together successfully, gladly, and in friendship."

~John F. Germ, 2016-17 President, Rotary International
