This Week's Program

"Alliance for Suicide Prevention" with Linda Maher and Marisa Martinez

With a strong history of community appeal, Hope for Today is a community education program available to any group seeking to understand more about the issues surrounding the tragedy of suicide and ways to intervene and save a life. Participants are provided with knowledge of how to respond to a person in crisis and how to recognize suicide warning signs and mental health disorders such as depression and bipolar disorder.

The Alliance for Suicide Prevention has partnered with the Office of Suicide Prevention, Carson J. Spencer Foundation and Cactus Marketing to specifically address the high rate of suicide in Colorado with men ages 24 – 54. In 2012, 80% of the suicide deaths in Larimer County were men. We are dedicated to reducing this high percentage through education, awareness and support.

Linda Maher is a dedicated board member and active volunteer in the Larimer County community. She has been involved with the Alliance for
