Safe water: this week's program

This week's program will address the work of the Waterborne Diseases Prevention Branch at the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention to help increase access safe water and improved hygiene in households, schools, and healthcare facilities across the developing world. This work has depended heavily on valued partnerships, notably Rotary International and local chapters, including the Rotary Club of Estes Park. Our speaker will be Robert Quick, MD, MPH.

Robert Quick

Quick is a medical epidemiologist in the Waterborne Diseases Prevention Branch at the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. He received his medical training at the University of California, San Francisco, obtained an MPH from the University of California, Berkeley, completed residencies in family practice and preventive medicine, and worked as medical director and clinician at the Indian Health Service hospital in Bethel, Alaska.

For the past 28 years, Quick has worked at CDC, conducting research on the etiology, control, and prevention of enteric diseases in the developing world. His work on cholera in Latin America and Africa revealed the seriousness and extent of the problem of lack of access to safe water and sanitation in the developing world and inspired a research focus on waterborne diseases and their prevention. With colleagues at CDC and the Pan American Health Organization, he developed the Safe Water System, a simple, inexpensive household-based water quality intervention, and has conducted field trials in Latin America, Africa, and Asia to establish the evidence base regarding its use and dissemination (www.cdc.gov/safewater). More recently, he has conducted field trials of other water treatment technologies, and has designed, implemented and evaluated projects that integrate water treatment technologies, handwashing and other public health interventions (including micronutrient Sprinkles, improved cookstoves, HIV counseling and testing, rapid syphilis screening and inexpensive handwashing stations) with maternal and child health services, school programs, and HIV care and support services. To carry out this work in the developing world, he has collaborated with numerous partners from the public and private sectors, Rotary Club, non-governmental organizations, UN agencies, and academic institutions.

From the International Service Committee: Consider donating to India relief

Our club receives varied and multiple requests for funds. Many of these requests are related to natural disasters in foreign countries. Your International Service Committee strives to evaluate the relative merit of these requests, and determine if the club has funds to meet these needs or if other funding options exist.

A current request comes from the Rotary Club of Cochin Midtown, India. Recent extraordinary floods in the state of Kerala have caused colossal devastation to property and the loss of over 400 lives. Over one million people have been displaced. Many Rotary Clubs there are currently providing essentials where more than 1,500 relief camps have been set up.

The Rotary Club of Cochin Midtown has initiated a "Reconstruction Project to provide relief to the economically weak, whose homes were completely destroyed". They plan to "construct simple houses (about 500 sq. ft.) at Idukki, Kerala, where the flood and rains have caused maximum damage." The project is being executed as a Rotary Global Grant enabled project of the Rotary Foundation; therefore, all contributions can be routed through the Rotary Foundation.

Because our club has limited funds to meet many requests, the International Service Committee asks you individually, as a member of the Rotary Club of Estes Park, to consider making a donation toward this project.
