Today's Program

Introducing the Rocky Mountain Performing Arts Center With Dick Zellner

For those who desire a life enriching, shared experience to broaden their artistic culture, the Rocky Mountain Performing Arts Center will become a focal point. Residents and visitors of Estes Park, from Larimer County, the state of Colorado and beyond, seeking distinguished performing arts will be drawn to this state-of-the-art facility. This privately funded project will impact the learning of arts locally, elevate local performances, and offer a professional resource for local and national performing arts groups. The Rocky Mountain Performing Arts Center is believed to be one of the biggest economic development and urban re-development projects for the Estes Park community in more than 25 years

Dick Zellner was born, raised and educated in Wisconsin. Starting out as a professional trumpet player and an instrumental music teacher, he became involved with entrepreneurial programs in the performing arts as a staff person at the University of Wisconsin-Madison, Extension Arts Department and the Florida State University, Division of Continuing Education. This meant that development and fundraising for the arts became the focus of his career activities.

After serving as the Executive Director of the Electric Symphony Orchestra, an experimental project based in Berkeley, California, he partnered with colleagues in the founding of the Institute for Advance Musical Studies in Montreux, Switzerland where he was the President and CEO.

Dick has served as President and CEO of The Arts Center Foundation of the East County Performing Arts Center in El Cajon, California, where he oversaw the renovation and revitalization of a major arts center that served as an economic driver for the core downtown district, making the arts center a focal point for the cultural life of the local community. Other positions included serving as President and Executive Director of the National Repertory Orchestra currently based in Breckenridge, CO; as Development Director of the Los Angeles Chamber Orchestra; and as Executive Director of Greater Twin Cities Youth Symphonies.

He teaches the on-line course "Developing Financial Resources" as an adjunct lecturer for the Baltimore, MD based Goucher College Master of Arts in Arts Administration Program. At the University of San Diego he taught the course "Fundraising and Patronage: The Art of Strategic Fundraising" for the "Business for the Arts and Nonprofit Art Organizations" certificate program. His focus has been on training arts managers to mobilize their respective organizations as they reach out to philanthropists and other supporters—even in a recessionary environment—who seek worthwhile, well-managed cultural endeavors to promote as part of their enduring legacy. Dick is currently serving as a volunteer board member and officer of the Harmony Project in Denver, Colorado. He has also worked across the country as a consultant to arts organizations, most recently with the Pasadena Symphony as they acquired the Pasadena Pops, assisting with the merger of these two entities and helping them find and hire the current Executive Director. Dick is married and has four children and eleven grandchildren

Meeting Highlights

Rotary meeting notes
Sept 13, 2012
By Madison Casey

The meeting was called to order by President Pete Sumey. Randy Davis offered the invocation. Song and pledge were led by Jim Robertson standing in for Chuck Bonza. Pete Sumey did the guest introductions. There were no guest Rotarians.

Guests of Rotarians: Karen McClure introduced Cathy Hornbein and Bill Calback. Pete Sumey introduced Sue Fereday.

We sang the Welcome Song.

Announcements:
Raffle/pool--Jim Robertson reported that Don Widrig was the winner of $287. The pot begins again at $50 for Monday.

Farmers' Market--Karen McClure thanked today's Farmers' Market volunteers--Bert Bergland and Scott Thompson.

Big Duck Marcia Logan made her first of many announcements to come. First meeting is tonight at Nicky's. She still has openings for help, and you don't have to be on the committee. Marcia noted some impressive milestones--this will be our 25th race and this year we will pass $2 million in distributions to charities. We are the second longest lived Duck Race in the country.

Don Widrig reported on the Rotary benefit concert by the Rocky Mountain

Opry. Tickets are $30 at the usual Opry ticket booth here at the Other Side. We only have 40 tickets left of the 210 maximum so we expect to sell out. It will be a special 50s-60s Rock 'n Roll show Tuesday Sept. 18 starting earlier, at 6:30. Doors open at 4:30. We have 10 classic cars from the Estes Park Car Club to show outside the theater and Barleen's will program songs to go with the cars. We STILL need volunteers to set up the show and clean up after. Dress in 50's style if you want, and prizes will be given. Sign up today for poodle skirts and Elvis Wigs, provided by Julie Phares.

Exchange Student—Marc Richards said we need a host family for after Thanksgiving to early March.

Jim Austin announced he will begin taking oral histories of our club from long time members. This fall and summer, on the third meeting of the month, he would like long time members of 15-20 years or longer, to stay after the meeting and give their memories of our club in a round table format that he will record. Jim will transcribe and edit.

Meetings and events were announced by Pete:

Today—Duck Race committee at Nicky's

Sept. 18—Rocky Mountain Opry to benefit our club; 6:30 in this room. 4:30 doors open.

Sept. 24—Foundation board meeting, 5:00, Wasson Room at the Library

Sept. 25, Fund development committee meeting, 5:00, Wasson Room at the Library

Pete presented Pat Barnett with her Paul Harris +8 pin. Thank you Pat!

Happy Money: TeresaMaria Widawski was happy the bear that clawed her front door last week while she was here at Rotary, did not get in. Don Widrig was $10 happy for winning the pool. Wayne Newsom was happy to have seen his exchange student of 40 year ago from Brazil. They have seen met in various spots in the world over the years. Clark Lupton was happy to have been to his 60th high school reunion in Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

Karen McClure introduced our speaker, Jeff Little, the new Head of School at Eagle Rock who told us about their mission, philosophy and activities.

Meeting adjourned.(end)
