LAST WEEK’S PROGRAM

Pollinator Project

Doug Rutledge introduced Scott Waterhouse, the owner and creator of Scott’s Bees Pollinator Project.

Founded in 2021, Scott’s Bees is a non-profit which advocates for legislation to support pollinators. Scott focuses on education and support to create habitats and resources that will increase the amount of bees to provide natural pollination.

Scott spoke to the importance of bees to the entire ecosystem and provided education on how everyone can build and grow environments friendly to bees. More information about Scott’s program can be found at scottbees.org
