ANNOUNCEMENTS: Mike Forney told the club about Program SCORE (Senior Corps of Retired Executives). The group counsels and provides mentors for small business, organizers, entrepreneurs and has been a successful program. This would be an excellent project for Rotarians. Gordon Cisar spoke to the club about Rotary Grants. Last year, Rotary gave 585 grants and our district provided 735 grants. Our club has chosen to focus on Basic Education & Literacy along with Water & Sanitation. Some of our club's projects include equipment for handicapped children in Tehuacan, Mexico, clean water at Kambare School in Kenya a water project in the Mulpani Village in Nepal and a water project, school repair, veterinary outreach in Guatemala.

ROTARIAN OF THE YEAR: Bob Eatman announced our Rotarian of the Year: Dave Mills. Dave started the Literacy Program in 2012 with tutoring in four area schools. The program has grown to 25 volunteers in six schools. Dave also championed the Chromebook Literacy Project for elementary classes in TSD. Over $530K has been raised for this project allowing the purchase of 1378 Chrome books and accessories. This has resulted in improved reading scores in many district schools. Dave also serves on 4-Way Test Project and is completing his third year on the Rotary Club BOD. Dave introduced his family and worked with the Thompson School District to raise funds for the program. He recognized our Literacy committee, the Loveland Rotary Foundation, school Parent Teacher Associations, several trusts, Jorgensen Labs and the many Rotary Club members who are major donors to the literacy project. Congratulations to Dave on a well-deserved recognition!

PROGRAM: Scoot Childers introduced Patricia Gannon who spoke to us about the Osher Lifelong Learning Institute at CSU. This is focused on learning for aged 50 and better in Northern Colorado. The Bernard Osher Foundation started the program in 1977 for "seasoned adult" education and there are 122 programs nationwide (CSU started theirs in 2006). There is a nominal membership fee of $35 for over 80 courses and lectures and curriculum is based on member requests, not toward career building. The program is hosting an open House Aug. 29, 2-4 pm at CSU's Drake Hall. Registration starts August 9th and can be done online, in-person, mail or via phone.
