Thought for the Week
Gail Daugherty shared a quote from John A. Shedd (1859-1928), adding "It can take courage to leave safe harbors, but the reward is a life well lived!"

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Rick Parker (Duck Race Team): The Duck Race Executive Committee still needs assistance. Please note the following, and contact Rick Parker if you can help!

- Need someone to be a Parade Event Captain.
- Need someone to loan an RV for Race Day activities at Fairgrounds Park (AC with generator preferred).
- If you have a Duck Race yard sign - please put it out!
- Please RSVP to "Together Again" event invitation!

Co-Pres. Gail (Nominations): Our nominating committee still needs some eligible members to step forward to be a new President Elect Nominee or a future board member. Perhaps it's YOU we need?

(Scholarship Winners): These two thank you letters from grateful students were received…

• Adelaide Giles, Bible Studies & Art Education - Ozark Christian College (MO): "God has provided through you!"

• Julia Rosa Campos, Nurse Aide Certification - Front Range Community College: "I recently purchased my first pair of scrubs and can't help but feel full of anticipation and excitement for the road ahead of me."

PROGRAM

These were some highlights from Dale Clarken's "Travel Industry Update" presentation:

- The whole worldwide travel situation is a "moving target," as rules and restrictions change daily!
- The world is definitely opening up, but the hurdles you have to cross in traveling are immense.
- Mexico was probably the saving grace of the industry… until the U.S., in Jan 2021, required all returning to the U.S. to first have a COVID test - just one more obstacle for a lot of potential travelers.
- More and more countries are opening their borders to U.S. travelers: UK did so just last week… Canada is slated to do so next week.
- With the Delta variant problem, it's hard to predict when things will truly open up for many destinations.
- The idea of an international health pass would be great for the industry but it's fraught with obstacles.
