STRIVE MENTORS NEEDED

Do you have just one hour each month for the next nine months to spend with a local, high school senior? If so, you could be a STRIVE mentor. STRIVE is a mentorship program coordinated by the Rotary clubs of Rochester, connecting positive adults with high school seniors at risk of not graduating. The purpose of STRIVE is to give hope and direction, set goals, improve academics, make friendships, and celebrate accomplishments.

STRIVE students and mentors meet each month at each of the three public high schools. Facilitators lead the group in discussions or activities, community members educate the students about current issues or post-secondary options, and school staff report on students' progress. Students and mentors also enjoy two "Grub Nights," typically at RCTC for food and tours and at Quarry Hill or Bowlocity for food and fun. The program concludes the academic year with a celebration during which students are honored.

Mentors do not need to be Rotary members. If you, or someone you know, has the time and interest in serving, please contact romnrotary@gmail.com today!

Remembering Atlanta

By President Janice Domke

It's been over two months already since I got back from the Rotary International Convention in Atlanta – my first. I've been to other conventions before but nothing, and I mean nothing, is like a Rotary convention!!!

If you haven't read Ian Riseley's opening letter in the July issue of The Rotarian, I encourage you to. It's a great tribute to the feeling of being at a convention with 40,000+ of your Rotary Family.

I'd like to share with you a few of the highlights I took away from the convention.

The first was Bill Gates sharing his commitment to help fund ending polio in the world. He talked about the various numbers we've accomplished, which are truly amazing! (You can get an update by going here <https://www.endpolio.org/what-is-polio#Facts>). The statistic that stood out most to me was the 16,000,000 – yes, million – people that walk today because of Rotary's efforts to end polio.

And the scary statistic of what will happen in a few short years if we don't finish the job. He shared that if we stopped now, short of finishing the goal (we're down to 3 countries and only 9 new cases so far in 2017), that by 2026 with our global society, we'd be back to where we were in 1979 when it all started. That's only 9 years! The eradication of polio needs to remain a priority and it was truly remarkable to hear all of the countries and entities that committed to finishing the job.

We want to go from being "this close"  to zero. We will get there and it will be an amazing thing to see.

The next highlight was Ashton Kutcher talking about his non-profit, Thorn. If you don't know anything about it, I encourage you to go to www.wearethorn.org to learn more. The man is so dedicated to this cause and so well spoken – it's hard to reconcile with the characters you see him play on TV. Ashton talked about the 25,000,000 child sexual abuse images that are viewed annually. He found out about this and realized he needed to do something. Go to his website and find out all the cool things Thorn is doing to help law enforcement fight this insidious crime with technology. It's quite amazing.

There were so many great speakers, wonderful break-out sessions – my favorite was the Thai Chi-Cha session I attended with Health Holmes (the 4-Way Stretch came out of this breakout). It was fascinating to hear about what other clubs are doing, the challenges they face and how they are overcoming those.

If you've never been to a Rotary International Convention, I believe you should invest the time and money. It is well worth it! I am ever grateful to The Rotary Club of Rochester for sending me to Atlanta. It was a trip I will never forget!

Next year's convention is in Toronto, Canada. I wonder what a bus would cost to go and how long it would take to get there. Imagine a bus load of TRCR members arriving in Toronto . . . sounds like fun!!

THE SHARED WORK OF ROTARY IN ROCHESTER

Recently, our Three Club Rotary Leadership asked all combined committees, with Rotarians from all three Rochester clubs working on shared Rotary programs, to submit reports. These reports will be shared with you over the next several months to give you a better understanding of the activities of Rotary in Rochester, our successes and our areas of improvement. If after reading any of the articles you have an interest in participation in these efforts, please contact the chairperson listed. Enjoy!

Rochester Rotary Program: Cradle to Career

Chair: Elaine Case

Prepared by: Cradle to Career Rotary committee

What are your major accomplishments over the past year and/or three years:

The Cradle to Career Rotary committee convened in July, 2015 and through October, 2017 accomplished these items:

- Aligned around education as a critical community gap
- Gathered data, held community interviews
- Obtained a district and Rochester clubs grant to conduct a community literacy summit
- Researched 10 cities across U.S. using the StriveTogether framework
- Had conversations with national leaders on literacy and education
- Based on our research, broadened our scope: To improve educational outcomes from birth to workforce by bringing people together across the community who care about children – from parents and educators to civic leaders and local employers – and who can accomplish more by working together.
- Added community members to the Rotary Literacy committee and changed the name to the Cradle to Career Committee.
- Obtained district grant to conduct a community summit

In November, 2016 the Cradle to Career Rotary team and the United Way combined forces as we were both focused on the same goals. We began to build a coalition and together we:

- Determined approach: Collective Impact
- Held coalition partner meetings; 28 local organizations supported the cause and became partners by publicly supporting the effort and committing to participate in the summit
- Created the Data Walk – 33 slides of local data that demonstrate how our community is performing around educational indicators
- Consulted with StriveTogether

On April 21, 2017 we held a community summit attended by 200 community leaders. The state of Rochester education was conveyed via a data walk built by United Way. Cradle to Career was introduced to the community by Jeff Edmondson, Managing Director, StriveTogether and Charley Nelson, Executive Director, Every Hand Joined, Red Wing, MN. The session was taped and can be accessed at this link.

Immediately following the summit, a meeting was held with potential backbone partners. Jeff Edmondson led this session. 45 people were in attendance with these major outcomes:

- Attendees unanimously voted ‘yes’ to continue and support the work
- Created a high-level plan to move forward via a planning team including participant groups, an elected facilitator, draft schedules and deliverables. The participant groups would be representatives of 15 cross-community entities.

Since this time, the Cradle to Career Rotary committee has invited leaders from those entities to participate in the planning session, created a charter and timeline. The community participants representing those entities are as follows:

Facilitator: Elaine Case, Rotary Clubs of Rochester	Universities: Dr. Mary Davenport, Interim President, RCTC	Public Schools: Dr. Michael Munoz, Superintendent, Rochester Public Schools	Private Schools: Emily Pearson, Director of Curriculum, Rochester Catholic Schools
Workforce: Randy Johnson, Executive Director, Workforce Development, Inc.	Pre-K: Jon Losness, Executive Director, Families First	Business: Guy Finne, Human Resources Management, Mayo Clinic	City: Audrey Betcher, Director, Rochester Public Library
County: Heidi Welsch, Deputy County Administrator, Olmsted County	Nonprofits: Barbara Jordan, NAACP	Student: Quincy Jones, Boys and Girls Club	Parent: Cathy Nathan, PTSA and parent
United Way, Jerome Ferson, Executive Director, United Way of Olmsted County	Foundation: Jennifer Woodford, Executive Director, Rochester Area Foundation	Service Clubs: Randy Schmidt, Kiwanis Lt. Governor	New American: TBD

This new Cradle to Career Planning Team will build recommendations around a community vision, outcomes, indicators and a structure to drive the Cradle to Career initiative forward in a sustainable way. The team has held an initial kick-off meeting and laid out a high-level plan. The original backbone members, and the community will be asked to learn about, provide input and approve these recommendations preparing to formally launch the organizational structure and the work. After this time, the Cradle to Career planning team will phase out as the community approved structure launches. The United Way will provide some administrative and communications support to the Cradle to Career Planning Team during this planning process. For example, the United Way will work on the most urgent items including the creation and execution of a communication plan, beginning with this newsletter, to ensure transparency with the community about the work that is taking place.

What goals did you have that you could not accomplish:

None.

What are your strengths in working together as a three-club initiative:

Teamwork, dedication, alignment to a common purpose, incorporation of community members into the work.

What challenges do you have for your program:

It will take continued focus to move the community to the next step of having a purpose, set of agreed-to outcomes, indicators as well as the support teams: backbone, data, investor.

What support do you need from three-club leadership moving into 2017-2018?

We have currently been offered $25K from the state (through the county) to get the execution plan built this year. Rotary has played a key role in partnership with the United Way of Olmsted County to drive this important initiative. We will need to make some strategic decisions about the role(s) we are willing to take on in the future.
