Ukrainian Rotaractors Get Creative to Help

In Ukraine, close to 100,000 children live in orphanages, which provide education and basic care but few opportunities to develop creativity.

Members of the Rotaract Club of Kyiv Multinational worked with children at an orphanage in Zgurvka, a village outside the capital, to make Ukrainian folk art. Together with the Rotaract clubs of Moscow-East, Russia; Bishkek, Kyrgyzstan; Baku, Azerbaijan; and El Tahrir, Egypt, the Kyiv Multinational club formed Creativity Without Borders, a project in which each club organized a hands-on creative project at an orphanage in its country.

In Zgurvka, local craftspeople taught the children to make traditional motanka dolls – colorful cloth figures that are seen as talismans and protectors of families.

The five Rotaract clubs exchanged the handicrafts (which also included candles, papyrus products, and embroidery) and auctioned them; the Kyiv Multinational Rotaractors used the funds they raised to buy woodworking and embroidery kits for the orphanage in Zgurvka.

Worldwide News in Brief

USA

Run-down and plagued by gang violence, Closter Park in Salinas, Calif., will soon get a makeover with the help of local Rotary clubs, as well as clubs in India and Mexico. The Rotary Club of Salinas is leading the project, which aims to make the park a safe haven for families. Rotarians installed benches, picnic areas, and a gazebo and are organizing youth activities and cultural events. The clubs have raised about $450,000 in cash and in-kind donations.

Venezuela

Rotarians in the city of Barquisimeto, concerned about a growing incidence of HIV/AIDS, worked with local physicians to develop a curriculum for high school students on the risk factors associated with sexually transmitted diseases. Basing their program on one started by the Rotary Club of Cortland, N.Y., USA, to prevent teen pregnancies, members of the Rotary Club of Barquisimeto-Nueva Segovia trained student leaders to teach and mentor their classmates. As part of the effort, all students are urged to be tested for HIV. The program has become a model for Rotary clubs in Colombia, Honduras, Belize, and Mexico, among other countries.
