Fines, Happy Bucks, Confessions:

- Pat confessed the reason for her absence from the changeover picnic. She went to the legion just before noon and, seeing no one there, went to Parkwood. No one was there either, so she went home.
- John D had a misunderstanding with himself, which resulted in him deleting his shift at the hill from his planner and not showing up to work it.
- New member Richard had a happy buck for making it through the pageant and confessed to misremembering Kim's name when he introduced to someone as Liz.
- Dave Pray happy-bucked for his son, who returned to his job in Washington, DC where he got a promotion and a raise.
- Bob Sloan had a buck because he "finally cracked the code" regarding the freezer. It's such a chore to organize it, keep track of what's in it, and get rid of stuff that's been in it too long. Bob discover that if you let the refrigerator break, then everything gets thrown out. And your new frig comes empty!
- Dianne had a mixed-emotions buck, because Joey is back home safe and sound.
- Joan's told us her daughter has a neighbor who worked out at the hill. When Joan asked who the neighbor was, her daughter said it was Dave and Katie Read. So, she gave a happy buck for her daughter's new neighbors.
- Anne offered an HB in recognition of Joey's great year with us, and thanked the Sloans and the Robsons for hosting her.
- Gary Hopkins had 2 weekends of fun lacrosse stuff with the kids.
