

DR. SALLY ROESCH WAGNER

Awarded one of the first doctorates in the country for work in women's studies (UC Santa Cruz) and a founder of one of the first college-level women's studies programs in the United States (CSU Sacramento), Dr. Sally Roesch Wagner has taught women's studies courses for 47 years. She currently serves as an adjunct faculty member in The Renée Crown University Honors Program, Syracuse University and the St. John Fisher Executive Leadership Program and is a Public Scholar with Humanities New York.

Author of numerous women's history books and articles telling the "untold stories," her recent publications center on the Haudenosaunee influence on the women's rights movement.

She wrote the faculty guide for Not for Ourselves Alone, Ken Burns' documentary on Elizabeth Cady Stanton and Susan B. Anthony, and appeared in that film and other PBS women's history programs. Dr. Wagner was selected as one of "21 Leaders for the 21st Century" by Women's E-News in 2015.

Founder and Executive Director of the Matilda Joslyn Gage Center for Social Justice Dialogue in Fayetteville, New York, and author of articles on historic house museums, she received the Katherine Coffey Award for outstanding service to museology from the Mid-Atlantic Association of Museums in 2012. Dr. Wagner serves on the New York Suffrage Centennial Commission.
