June 2,2020

Our presenter to day was Leo Barillos, a friend of the Saal's, who spoke to us about a stove project in Guatemala

Imagine if you can living in a one room shack , a family of four or maybe even more , you sleep there , you eat there and you gather there

Now picture that room full of smoke from the cooking fires ,that you prepare your meals on , little or no ventilation ceilings blackened by the smoke of many meals cook on an open fire in that same room, by the way your day starts with gathering wood for that fire.

I am sure that you can understand why this area has more respiratory problems as well as eye problems than most other countries. Not a pleasant picture I am sure.

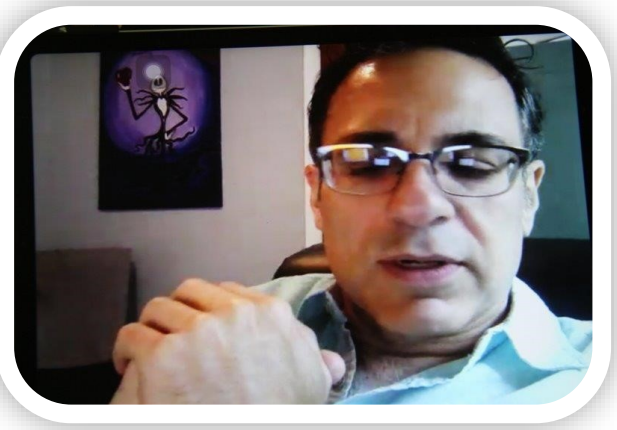

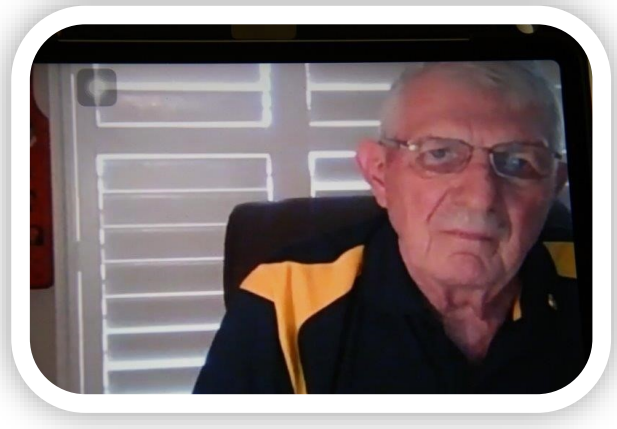

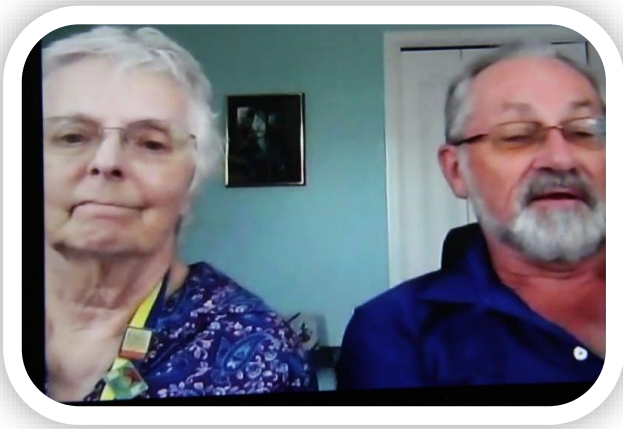

There is a solution ,and that is a stove that can be built, for less than many of us pay to have our lawns cut once a month.

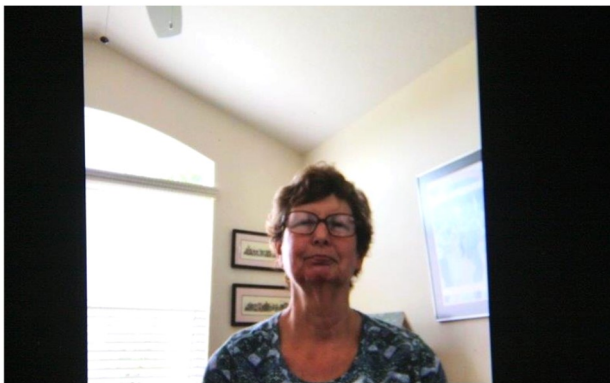

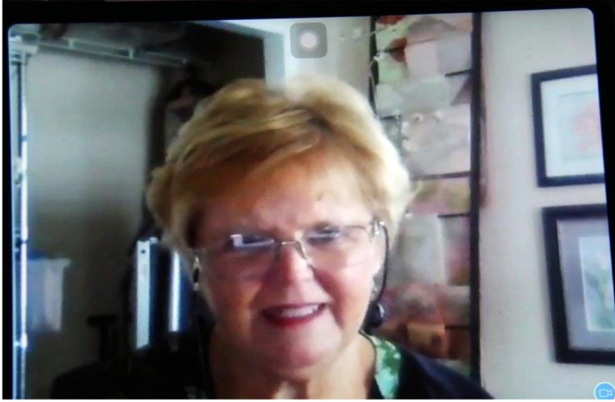

This stove comes with proper ventilation and reduces that wood consumption by 60%. We are about to get involved in this project the board of directors will be meeting soon to decide how we can go about it. Stay tuned for further details.

This is what one of the stoves looks like, you can tell by the smiles that they are very happy and look forward to cooking on that stove.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs.'s Raymond Levy , they recently tied the knot and appear to be very happy.

The Four Way Test

Of the things

We think say or do

1. Is it the truth?
2. Is it fair to all concerned?
