U.S. Representative Daniel Webster was our speaker today and is shown here with President Danielle Stroud after getting advise he is going to the moon, of course that's a picture of him along with a donation to the anti-bulling program.

He talk about his "Constituent Service Guide" that he has established to help the people he works for , go through less hassle from the massive operation called "The Federal Government ".

He is not trying to override any decisions made by a federal agency. He is willing to intervene on a person's behalf to answer questions, find solutions, or simply attempt to cut through the red tape.

His mission is to steadfastly serve and provide our community with respected and principled representation.

Representative Webster pledges to provide first -rate service and to produce sound public policy to best serve the people of West Central Florida. Protecting veterans and seniors , create jobs, turn off the spigot of spending, and transform how Washington works are his top priorities.

Constituent Services

The federal government is a massive operation, and as your representative in Congress it is my pleasure to assist you with issues involving federal agencies. Although my office cannot override or improperly influence the decisions made by a federal agency, I can often intervene on a person's behalf to answer questions, find solutions, or simply attempt to cut through the red tape.

My staff is here to serve you and assist with any matters that involve a federal agency, including:

- Social Security
- Medicare
- Veterans Affairs
- U.S. Military
- Internal Revenue Service (IRS)
- Citizenship and Immigration
- Department of State
- United States Postal Service

Meeting with constituents to discuss how we can help with federal agencies.

What constituents are saying...

"I want to thank Representative Webster's office for the help I got to finally get through the maze I experienced at the local [Veterans Affairs]." - Bill

Meeting with local veterans to discuss how we can improve the VA.

"Dear Mr. Webster, I want to thank you [for] helping me out on my Medicare problems...I will be ever so grateful for your help." - Jean

"Again, thank you for your efforts on our behalf. I cannot tell you how much it means to us to have a listening ear and people who actually do something to help. With gratitude and appreciation." - Dawn

Other Services

- Visiting Washington - Tours
- Request for flags flown over the Capitol
- Congressional Art Competition
- Service Academy Nominations

Frequently Asked Questions

Q: A federal agency has denied my claim/application. Can you help me appeal the decision?

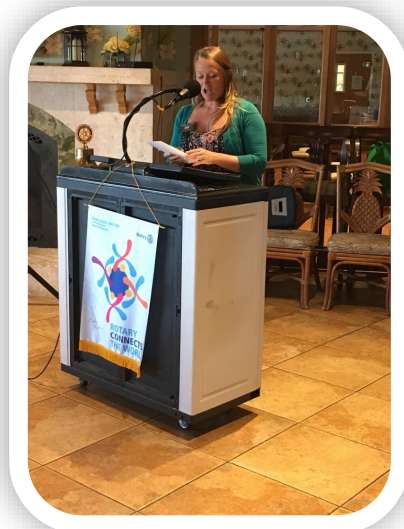

A: My staff is happy to ask for information or a status report on a pending case, or ask for clarification on the reasons for denial, but it would be inappropriate for me to compel any agency to decide an issue in your favor, or attempt to overturn a decision that is final.

Q: Can I request casework assistance for a matter involving a Florida State or County agency?

A: As a U.S. Representative, my staff has access to liaison offices for all U.S. federal agencies. For assistance with matters involving a non-federal agency or department, you should contact your representatives in the Florida State Legislature or the office of the Governor, because they have more direct access to non-federal agencies and can better review and respond to your concerns. We are happy to help you identify your state representative and provide you with their contact information.

Q: Can you help me with my legal case or court hearing?

A: My staff and I cannot give legal advice or initiate off-the-record communication with a judge who is presiding over a pending court case.
