About Young Playwrights' Lab

Now in its seventeenth year, Young Playwrights' Lab was developed to improve attitudes towards literacy through teaching playwriting. The residency engages students through theatre games, improvisation, and writing exercises, culminating in each student writing their own original one-act play. Each year, exceptional plays are selected to be professionally produced at the annual Young Playwrights' Festival.

This year, Young Playwrights' Lab reached students at

Buchanan Elementary School
Casa Guadalupe Center
Donegan Elementary School
Farmersville Elementary School
Fountain Hill Elementary School
Governor Wolf Elementary School
Lincoln Elementary School
Marvine Elementary School
Nitschmann Middle School
Spring Garden Elementary School

to

Young Playwrights' Festival

on May 21, 2022

7:00pm – Preshow festivities in the Atrium Lobby Musical guest Dave Fry, “red carpet” photo ops, and goodies for the kids (and kids at heart!)

7:30-9pm – Young Playwrights’ Festival in Baker Hall Five original student-written plays and select scenes from the five runners-up

Venture into the hearts and minds of our greatest storytellers – our children – with an evening of new plays written by Young Playwrights’ Lab students from across the Lehigh Valley. We’re thrilled to be back in person at Zoellner Arts Center (masks optional, distanced seating available) and via livestream this year for a wildly delightful, one-of-a-kind evening of original theatre!
