

May Student of the Month 2018

Moral Courage: students who are willing to do what's right despite any doubts or fears about the consequences.

9th grade : Alexander Twitchell

Nominating Teacher: Melinda Thompson

Alexander does not follow the crowd. He quietly supports his fellow classmates. A student was struggling with a class that he shared with Alex. Alex is not the most organized kid, but he began pulling out worksheets and checking with the other student to figure out what work the other kid needed to do. He does not say much but usually responds to a student who needs help. His favorite saying is, "oh I've got that." He always has a huge smile on his face and is just a great kid to be around!!

10th grade: Madison Day

Nominating Teacher: Cindi Kugell

Madison always tries her best in class and is willing to help and encourage others to get their work done. Madison has great leadership abilities and has the Moral courage to light fires under her fellow students that may not be as motivated to get work done as she is. She gets them to do the work even when it may not seem "cool" to get it done.

11th grade: Mason Harris

Nominating Teacher: Cindi Kugell

Mason is a hard worker and always takes given tasks seriously. He encourages his peers by doing outstanding work and inspires them to do the same. Mason is a hard worker and always takes given tasks seriously. He encourages his peers by doing outstanding work and inspires them to do the same. I'm very proud of the progress that he has made in art class, he is a fine young man.

12th grade: Michael Ferris

Nominating Teacher: Tina Fox

Mike is in law enforcement and he has math class with other law enforcement students that are underclassmen. He does not hesitate to remind them that their code of ethics that they are held to in law enforcement is also followed in their academic classes too. He gives this friendly reminder without degrading his peers. He has a great way of giving moral guidance without being pushy. Mike continues to show leadership skills in math class as well in Interact club. He seems to enjoy his tech program, academic courses and clubs he is involved in. He continues to hold his peers and adults he comes in contact to his moral and ethical values. I have seen him have many conversations with others about choices that are made and how it affects others. Mike shows a lot of moral courage every day, holding people around him accountable and not afraid to speak up. He will be heading off to the Army in July.
