The Environment: Rotary's Newest Area of Focus

In June, 2020 the The Rotary Foundation Trustees and the Rotary International Board of Directors voted unanimously to approve the Environment as the seventh Area of Focus. In January, 2021, they finalized the policy detailing the kinds of projects that will now become eligible for Global Grants. The Rotary Foundation began accepting grant proposals in July, 2021. Start planning now for your 2023-2024 project.

Eligible projects cover an array of fields:

- Protecting and restoring land, coastal, marine, and freshwater resources
- Enhancing the capacity of communities and local governments to support natural resource management and conservation
- Supporting agroecology and sustainable agriculture, fishing, and aquaculture practices to improve ecological health
- Addressing the causes of climate change and climate disruption and supporting solutions to reduce the emission of greenhouse gases
- Strengthening the resilience of ecosystems and communities affected by climate change and climate disruption
- Supporting education to promote behaviors that protect the environment
- Advocating for the sustainable consumption of products and the environmentally sound management of byproducts to build a more resource-efficient economy
- Addressing environmental justice issues and environmental public health concerns

Rotary's 7th and new Area of Focus opens opportunities to attract new members into the Rotary Family

Congratulations to our Global Grant Scholar Natalia Lopez

Rotary International District 7610 is pleased to announce the selection of Natalia Lopez as a $40,000 Global Grant Scholarship recipient for 2023-2024. Natalia is proudly sponsored by the Rotary Club of Fairfax.

Natalia graduated Cum Laude from Georgetown University in May with a Bachelor of Science in Foreign Service. Natalia works as a research associate with the Georgetown University Institute for the study of International Migration. She was recently selected to present the Institute's research findings at the University of South Florida National Immigration and Wellbeing Research Conference in February of this year.

In addition to her studies and professional research work, Natalia continues to volunteer in multiple capacities in furtherance of her passion. She is a family mentor for newly arriving immigrant families in Fairfax County, and entrepreneurial podcast producer on The Immigration Story and a leader in teaching English to migrant students. She will be pursuing a Master of Science in Migration Studies through The University of Oxford in Oxford, England. The scholarship is being awarded under Rotary's Area of Focus Peacebuilding and Conflict Prevention.

Natalia is a passionate advocate of effective migrant integration and governance policy programs. With the last decade's staggering global increase of refugees fleeing sociopolitical conflict and insecurity, the lack of policies and programs to manage these increasing migrant and refugee flows has created new cycles of conflicts.

Planning to continue her exceptional record of academic and research excellence and professional and volunteer activities, Natalia hopes to create actionable change in the migration integration field to stem the cycle of conflicts and foster global peace.

We look forward to following Natalia's journey and wish her all the best in this new exciting chapter in her pursuit of positive change in the world.

Build Your Rotary Legacy

Include a commitment to The Rotary Foundation in your will or estate plan and take comfort in knowing that your charitable goals will be fulfilled for many years to come. Committing a fixed amount or a percentage of your assets in your estate plan can put your resources to use after you no longer need them. And, Rotary strives to increase the value of your gift by preserving and investing your initial contribution and spending only a portion of the earnings.

This strategy supports important causes today while generating funds that will further the work of future Rotarians like YOU committed to Doing Good in the World. An endowment has the added benefit of protecting against inflation and severe market fluctuations.

HOW YOUR GIFT CAN GROW AND GIVE

A named fund of $25,000 established in 1997 has provided more than $30,000 in earnings, which were spent on Rotary causes during the last 24 years. That is more than the original gift and the fund continues to grow, ensuring a lasting legacy. And, gifts can be structured to meet a variety of personal objectives.

The illustration depicts past performance and cannot be relied upon as an indicator of future performance.

"If it is to be, it is up to me"***

Peter Anderson,
District Annual Fund Chair

"If it is to be, it is up to me." That statement was used by one of the speakers at the March Chesapeake Presidents' Elect Training Seminar, who was a storyteller. Wow, what a statement. It consisted of ten two-letter, one-syllable words but the impact of those words, and their implied action and responsibility were powerful. They fit right in with Rotary's People of Action concept. Ultimately it is up to each of us to determine our goals and then provide the leadership, inspiration, courage, and accountability to accomplish them. The Rotary Foundation depends on every Rotarian for its funding, whether it be individual donations, conducting fund-raising events, or getting corporate support. It also depends on Rotarians to use TRF to do Rotary's good works around the world. It is something to think about as we start out April and the Spring.

Why is the above statement important? We now have less than 3 months remaining in this Rotary year. Have you donated to The Rotary Foundation this Rotary year? How is your club doing? We are still significantly behind last year's Annual Fund-SHARE giving total. Here are some quick facts. District 7610 has 1864 Rotarians in it. Three hundred of those Rotarians belong to the Paul Harris Society and pledge to give $1000 per year to TRF as long as they are able. That leaves 1564 other Rotarians. If every Rotarian in the District became at least a Sustaining Member, that's $100 per RY or $.28 per day we would be up to $456,400. We would still be behind where we were last year at this time, but we would be a lot closer. We currently have donated $362,318 to the Annual Fund-SHARE. That is 54.5% less than where we were at the end of March 2022. The good news is that we are now at $63,242 for PolioPlus giving, which is 13.8% above March of 2022.

Remember, in three years 47.5% of what our district donates to the Annual Fund-SHARE is returned to the district as District Designated Funds. Up to 50% of those funds can be used for the District Grant which currently is $86,050. Split between 52 clubs and the maximum each club may receive will only be $1654. It is not too late to give. I know we can do this. Become a Sustaining Member for this RY with a donation of $100 to the Annual Fund-SHARE and let's change the above quote to read: "If it is to be, it is up to US!"

*This quote is attributed to William H Johnsen, an American painter (1901-1970), who was from South Carolina but spent time with his uncle in New York and studied art there. Later, he travelled to Paris to learn and paint.

District 7610 was well represented at the conference

Oh what a day...actually a week-end! This years' Duke/UNC peace conference April 1-2, marked a grand celebration of the 20th year of Rotary's first peace center. Today, there are seven Rotary Peace Centers around the world with center number eight scheduled to open in 2024 in Istanbul, Turkey.

The conference began with an immersion workshop entitled "First, Do No Harm" which challenged participants to be cognizant of the unintended consequences of a service project. While well intended, a project might actually incur damage if the people impacted by the project are not part of the project decision making process.

The workshop was followed by a reception at the North Carolina Botanical Gardens in Chapel Hill with the Class 20 and Class 21 Peace Fellows, Rotarians, faculty, and program mentors. This event is always great to hold one-on-one conversations with Peace Fellows.

Fellows proudly display their certificates

Of course the main event was held on Saturday when each of the Class 20 graduates presented their research projects. The presentations were organized around four topic areas: overcoming marginalization, opportunities to move from conflict to cooperation, the role of disease prevention in peacebuilding and marginalized voices. The Fellows first presented their studies on women's access to elective office, harmonizing energy and peace, and integration experiences of unaccompanied migrant children to name but a few.

Excitement intensified when the Fellows were placed in panels according to the topic areas and answered questions from their faculty advisors, conference attendees, and the world-wide online audience. Although handling each question with confidence and aplomb, Fellows were relieved when their turn on the panel was completed.

The Saturday luncheon allowed the opportunity to meet with Peace Fellows (2nd from left) and faculty (3rd from left) while gathering with Rotarians from other districts. Make plans now for next years' conference on Saturday, April 6, 2024!

How did your club use its District Grant this year?

Rotary Builds Peace was the theme of the just completed Rotary eClub of Global Peacebuilders grant project.

The Rotary eClub of Global Peacebuilders, District 7610, hosted Ana Patel, a Rotary Peace Fellow to talk about Peacebuilding to our Interact clubs. Ana's interactive program, "Rotary Builds Peace," featured Rotary's "Ecosystem for Peace," activities to practice thinking beyond one's own needs, examples of peace projects for students and building peace in families and communities.

Ana met with students from seven Interact clubs as well as other members of school community including other students, administrators, and teachers. Kettle Run (Rotary Club of Warrenton), Wakefield and Battlefield (Rotary Club of Gainesville-Haymarket). South Lakes and Herndon High (Rotary Club of Herndon - Reston). Leesburg (Rotary Club of Leesburg). Stafford (Rotary Club of Stafford).

Ana Patel explains the Rotary Ecosystem for Peace

Chad Wright, a teacher, and Interact club advisor at Kettle Run High School invited the Interact clubs of Battlefield and Wakefield High Schools to the presentation as well. As a result, Ana's presentation became a terrific opportunity for networking among students to collaborate on future service projects. Richard Ramsburg from the Rotary Club of Herndon- Reston created a video invitation to the Interact students of both South Lakes and Herndon High Schools to encourage attendance. He introduced Ana by discussing Rotary International efforts to promote Peace.

Rotarian Donna Almborg, who facilitated Ana's visit, stated "the best part was all her unique stories from around the world - so personal and relatable. It was my privilege to have the opportunity to hear this presentation and to meet Ana. It is my experience that the Peacebuilders never disappoint because they are all so passionate about what they do!"

Bigger than polio

Pakistan's female vaccinators are doing more than helping end a disease

(Appearing in April 2023 Issue of Rotary Magazine)

Women make up two-thirds of Pakistan's polio workforce. It is a role born of necessity, as cultural norms prevent men from entering many people's homes in Pakistan. Women can build mom-to-mom relationships and provide trusted advice, not only about polio but about other health issues. For example, diphtheria, tetanus, and acellular pertussis vaccine (also known as DTaP) combined with inactivated poliovirus vaccine (also known as IPV) is a combination vaccine that is given to protect against infections caused by diphtheria, tetanus (lockjaw), pertussis (whooping cough), and poliovirus.

"Women working with women on the front line is going to be what gets us across the finish line," says Rotary President Jennifer Jones, who met last year with polio workers in Pakistan. The country and Afghanistan are the only two where wild poliovirus is still transmitted persistently. The female vaccinators' work is neither safe nor easy. The women in Pakistan are sworn at, shoved, beaten, and some even killed. They're fighting misinformation. But their work is crucial — and not just for the cause of polio eradication.

"They are supporting their education, they're supporting their household, they're giving a change in Pakistan," says Sadia Shakeel, coordinator for a Rotary-supported polio resource center in Karachi who calls them "little entrepreneurs." Most of the women range in age from 21-38 and have their own children, she says. Yet they wake to say prayers before dawn, feed their children breakfast, and leave to start their work to end a disease.

Employing women is one key strategy of the Global Polio Eradication Initiative. And that's not just to deliver the vaccines at the front line; it's also to hire women as supervisors, doctors, and decision-makers. "We cannot succeed without the women we have in the program at all levels," says Hamid Jafari, a pediatric infectious disease doctor and director of polio eradication for the World Health Organization's Eastern Mediterranean region.

We have come a long way in the fight against polio. Before the Global Polio Eradication Initiative started in 1988, the disease paralyzed more than a thousand children a day. We are close to the finish line, but the case in New York, where polio was eradicated more than 30 years ago, is a sobering reminder that polio is just a plane ride away and until every child is immunized, polio will continue to be a threat to every child.
