Brahms and Mozart, David Afkham - Conductor
Seong-Jin Cho - Piano

PROGRAM

Beethoven - Overture, Coriolan

Mozart - Piano Concerto No. 20 in D minor, K. 466

Brahms - Symphony No. 1

A pair of Philadelphia Orchestra debuts, by two rapidly rising stars: David Afkham on the podium and Seong-Jin Cho at the keyboard. Cho brings his prize-winning technique to Mozart's Piano Concerto No. 20. Beethoven's stirring Coriolan Overture was inspired by a play about war and peace in ancient Rome. Brahms was daunted by Beethoven's towering legacy; that may be why it took him so long to finish his majestic Symphony No. 1. For almost 150 years, audiences have agreed it was worth the wait.

Emmanuelle Haïm - Conductor, Lenneke Ruiten – Soprano

PROGRAM

Purcell - Selections from The Fairy Queen

Handel - Music for the Royal Fireworks

Handel - Il delirio amoroso, cantata for soprano and orchestra

Acclaimed French conductor Emmanuelle Haïm makes her Philadelphia Orchestra debut, presenting two of the leading lights of English Baroque music. Handel's Music for the Royal Fireworks has been lighting up the sky (in concert halls!) since 1749. In his cantata Il delirio amoroso (The Delirium of Love), soprano Lenneke Ruiten is featured in this Orpheus-like tale based on classical mythology. Purcell's brilliant score for The Fairy Queen quickly became a favorite after its rediscovery early last century.

Yannick and Manny, Yannick Nézet-Séguin – Conductor
Emanuel Ax - Piano

PROGRAM

Brahms - Piano Concerto No. 2

Brown - Perspectives

Dvorák - Symphony No. 7

Don't miss hearing this powerful musical partnership.

The legendary Emanuel Ax solos in Brahms's stirring Second Piano Concerto (he seems “to enfold every listener in a metaphorical embrace”—The Seattle Times). And Yannick and the Orchestra present Dvorák's Seventh Symphony, inspired by Brahms (and by Dvorák's intense Czech patriotism).

Stacey Brown's Perspectives, which received its world premiere in spring 2017 by Yannick and his Orchestre Métropolitain in Montreal, is inspired by a sculpture by Michel Longtin. The Canada-based composer invokes a sense of traveling around the art viewing it's various angles and shifting shapes.

“I am very happy that The Philadelphia Orchestra can offer its unique sound, talent, and excellence in every area of repertoire, in every corner of every genre. We believe that our music can truly make life even more beautiful.” – Yannick

All Tchaikovsky, Kensho Watanabe—Conductor

Edgar Moreau—Cello

PROGRAM

Tchaikovsky - Capriccio italien

Tchaikovsky - Rococo Variations, for cello and orchestra

Tchaikovsky - Symphony No. 1 ("Winter Daydreams")

The breadth and depth of Tchaikovsky's musical genius are on display in this dazzling celebration of his music, led by our dynamic Assistant Conductor Kensho Watanabe. Inspired by a trip to sunny Italy, Tchaikovsky transforms the sounds he heard all around him into a delightful "Italian Fantasia" (his original title for Capriccio italien). He turns to Mozart for inspiration in his Rococo Variations, the closest Tchaikovsky came to writing a cello concerto, performed by rising star Edgar Moreau. And perfectly attuned to the season, the program concludes with his "Winter Daydreams" Symphony.

A Space Odyssey, Esa-Pekka Salonen —Conductor
Choong-Jin Chang - Viola

PROGRAM

Strauss - Also sprach Zarathustra
Bartók - Viola Concerto

We welcome back Esa-Pekka Salonen for a program of music that's sure to win hearts, minds, and ears. There's more to Richard Strauss's Zarathustra than the few notes heard in Stanley Kubrick's 2001: A Space Odyssey: It's a unique experience in the concert hall with orchestra and the Fred J. Cooper Memorial Organ. The Viola Concerto was one of Bartók's last compositions. Principal Viola Choong-Jin Chang will effortlessly demonstrate why it's become perhaps the most popular concerto for his instrument. Hear another side of Bartók's music with the Miraculous Mandarin Suite, which caused a scandal at its premiere and was banned in Germany. The story it's based on is a tad grotesque (a prostitute murdering her visitor); we promise nothing but glorious music in our presentation!

Beethoven - Piano Concerto No. 1

Beethoven - Symphony No. 4

An acclaimed contralto turned conductor, Nathalie Stutzmann wowed the audience at her 2016 debut conducting Messiah. She returns to make her subscription debut with a program featuring Benjamin Grosvenor in Beethoven's Piano Concerto No. 1. A Gramophone "Young Artist Award" winner, Grosvenor has established himself as one of today's finest pianists. Beethoven's Fourth Symphony, and the ever-surprising Symphony No. 94 by Haydn (Beethoven's teacher), are sublime musical companions.

ulate"—Los Angeles Times). He joins the Orchestra in the East Coast premiere of Nico Muhly's Organ Concerto, a co-commission with the Los Angeles Philharmonic. In McVinnie's hands, hear the Fred J. Cooper Memorial Organ in all its glory. Also on the program, Tchaikovsky's Manfred Symphony, written between his Fourth and Fifth symphonies and based on a poem by Lord Byron.

Sibelius Symphony No. 2, Yannick Nézet-Séguin - Conductor

PROGRAM

Hannibal - Healing Tones
Sibelius - Symphony No. 2

Hannibal completes his tenure as composer-in-residence with the world premiere of Healing Tones, a hymn for the City of Brotherly Love. He's spent the past two years immersing himself in Philadelphia, collecting inspiration, texts, and music from all walks of life. Given his past triumphs here (including One Land, One River, One People), Hannibal's new piece is sure to enthrall. Yannick continues his complete cycle of the Sibelius symphonies with the Second. Seen as an appeal to Finnish patriotism at a time of Russian oppression, it remains the composer's most popular symphony.

There was a day when Rotary was comprised of just old businessmen but that was long ago. Here's the bottom line, we're simply looking for high character men and women in our community that want to serve.

Myth #3: ROTARY is EXPENSIVE

Actually Rotary membership fees vary from club to club, community to community. Some are as little as merely dollars per month.

Myth #4: If it can't make the meetings, I can't be in ROTARY.

Rotary is about serving.

If you want to help us serve the community but just can't get to regular meetings we will absolutely find a way for you to participate.

Myth #5: I just don't have time to be a ROTARIAN

Do you or does your business have two hours per month to contribute to the community? We can show you some reasonable goals and examples of how to get yourself involved in Rotary inside your busy schedule.

Don't let these myths stand in your way.

Start your ROTARY journey of service right now because...

the WORLD needs ROTARY and ROTARY needs YOU.
