Time Traveling in Souderton, Pennsylvania

Take in a private tour of the Univest Museum on Main Street Souderton, lead by local resident and historian, Dan Yocum.

Dan's love for and knowledge of Souderton Borough runs deep. He is the 8th generation to grow up and reside in Souderton. In fact, he's the great-great-great grandson of Henry O. Souder, the founder of Souderton. He is a Borough Councilor for Souderton Ward 1; a Volunteer Firefighter and the Financial Secretary for Perseverance Volunteer Fire Company; and the President Elect for Souderton-Telford Rotary. You can't beat that for a tour guide!

The highest bidder will also receive seven books written about the history of Souderton: Seeing Souderton, History of Indian Valley & Its Bank, Diary of William Souder Hemsing, and the Anniversary books from 1930, 1967, 1987, and 2012.

Celebrate Oktoberfest with a Guided Beer Tasting for Four (4) Persons

Friday, October 11, 2019, 7:00 p.m. in Telford, PA

Join Jason Donmoyer, a BJCP National ranked beer judge, for a guided tasting of some of the best stylistic examples of beer available in America. He will teach you about the brewing process and how local circumstances and historical factors played into the creation of the beer styles that arose in various parts of the world.

You will explore the broad range of flavors, aromas, and sights that beer offers by sampling and discussing the nuances of each.

You just might consider bringing a bottle of beer instead of wine to your next dinner party after this experience.

Light hors d'oeuvres that pair well with the beers will be provided.

Bruch and Brahms

Nathalie Stutzmann - Conductor

David Kim - Violin

PROGRAM

Mendelssohn - Hebrides Overture

Bruch - Violin Concerto No. 1

Brahms - Symphony No. 2

Max Bruch may have struggled to write it, but Concertmaster David Kim calls this violin concerto “the perfect combination of beautiful melodies and themes, virtuosic yet accessible.” Brahms’s Second Symphony, possibly his most popular, is said to be his personal favorite as well. Its pastoral aura surely accounts for some of its appeal; but Brahms being Brahms, there is tension and drama as well, building to an extraordinary, triumphant finale. Conductor Nathalie Stutzmann returns to demonstrate her superb chemistry with The Philadelphia Orchestra.

The Firebird

Stéphane Denève - Conductor

Kelley O'Connor - Mezzo-soprano

PROGRAM

Auerbach - Icarus for Orchestra –

FIRST PHILADELPHIA ORCHESTRA PERFORMANCES

Lieberson - Neruda Songs –FIRST PHILADELPHIA ORCHESTRA PERFORMANCES

Stravinsky - The Firebird (complete ballet)

With these concerts our esteemed colleague Stéphane Denève begins his sixth and final season as our principal guest conductor. Soviet-born American composer Lera Auerbach says she was drawn to the myth of Icarus because of "his wish to reach the unreachable, the intensity of the ecstatic brevity of his flight, and the inevitability of his fall." Her adventurous musical palette exploits the full sonic range of the orchestra: shimmering, soaring, and ultimately dying away. Stravinsky describes a different myth about feathered flight in his Firebird. He mined everything from Russian folk music to his classical forebears (especially his teacher, Rimsky-Korsakov) to tell this story of a prince, an evil king, and, of course, a magical firebird. Peter Lieberson set five love poems by Pablo Neruda to music in this touching work written for his wife, mezzo-soprano Lorraine Hunt Lieberson, who gave the world premiere.

Wynton Marsalis's Blues Symphony

Cristian Macelaru - Conductor

Leonidas Kavakos - Violin

PROGRAM

Shostakovich - Violin Concerto No. 1

Marsalis - Blues Symphony

Pulitzer Prize-winner Wynton Marsalis switches from jazz band to symphony orchestra for his Blues Symphony. "Blues is affirmation with absolute elegance," says Marsalis, and he uses the classic 12-bar musical form as the basis for this work, which celebrates all types of American and African-American music, from spirituals to ragtime, from marches to bluegrass. This Philadelphia premiere is conducted by our long-time friend Cristian Macelaru. Shostakovich's emotional First Violin Concerto reveals the pure power and technical prowess of orchestra and soloist. Leonidas Kavakos, "a marvel of exactitude" (The Philadelphia Inquirer), describes the dialogues between the two as "absolutely breathtaking."

Sorcerers, Spells, and Magic

Stéphane Denève - Conductor

Westminster Symphonic Choir

Joe Miller - Director

Philadelphia Boys Choir

Jeffrey R. Smith - Artistic Director

PROGRAM

Mozart - Overture to The Magic Flute

Dukas - The Sorcerer's Apprentice

Williams - Selections from Harry Potter

Ravel - L'Enfant et les sortilèges

The Philadelphia Orchestra celebrates Valentine's weekend with spellbinding music, beginning with Mozart's bewitching The Magic Flute. Magic takes a darker turn in The Sorcerer's

Apprentice, Dukas's symphonic poem immortalized by Mickey Mouse battling demonic brooms in Fantasia. Stéphane Denève is a passionate exponent of John Williams's endlessly creative music for the cinema, represented here by his spookily charming Harry Potter scores. Youth and magic reappear in Ravel's L'Enfant et les sortilèges (The Child and the Magic Spells), a one-act fairy tale opera with libretto by renowned French author Colette, and featuring talent from the Metropolitan Opera's Lindemann Young Artist Development Program. Symphonie fantastique

Herbert Blomstedt - Conductor

Lise de la Salle - Piano

PROGRAM

Mendelssohn - Piano Concerto No. 21

Berlioz - Symphonie fantastique

Mendelssohn wrote his Second Piano Concerto right after he got married and there's plenty of joy expressed, especially in the final movement, which the composer himself described as "piano fireworks." He was the soloist at the premiere in 1837. The young French pianist Lise de la Salle ("For much of the concert, the audience had to remember to breathe..." –The Washington Post) is a riveting choice to interpret this concerto. Berlioz's Symphonie fantastique is a tour de force of compositional color, a breakthrough that set the stage for his most assured writing. While said to depict the opium-inspired visions of a lovesick young artist, the music needs no libretto to communicate its passion. Who better to lead this celebration of youthful intensity than the ageless Herbert Blomstedt!

Respighi's Pines of Rome

TBD - Conductor

Paul Jacobs - Organ

PROGRAM

Elgar - In the South

Daugherty - Once Upon a Castle, for organ and orchestra –FIRST
PHILADELPHIA ORCHESTRA PERFORMANCES

Elgar - Introduction and Allegro

Respighi - Pines of Rome

Two journeys to Italy bookend this program. Respighi's Pines of Rome is a sweeping pictorial of the Italian landscape. Edward Elgar's scintillating tone poem In the South commemorates a family holiday; the richly textured music conveys the Italian Riviera in all its warmth. Elgar's Introduction and Allegro is a showcase for strings. Inspired by the theater organ in William Randolph Hearst's San Simeon (fictionalized as Xanadu in Citizen Kane), Michael Daugherty's lush Once Upon Castle brings out what the composer calls the "Technicolor" nature of the instrument. The esteemed Scottish maestro Donald Runnicles conducts; keyboard virtuoso Paul Jacobs returns to the Fred J. Cooper Memorial Organ.

Thibaudet and Liszt

Stéphane Denève - Conductor

Jean-Yves Thibaudet - Piano

PROGRAM

Clyne - This Midnight Hour

Liszt - Piano Concerto No. 2

Strauss - Ein Heldenleben

Stéphane Denève's final subscription concerts as the Orchestra's principal guest conductor culminate with Strauss's epic Ein Heldenleben—literally, A Hero's Life—an extravagant, all-encompassing, semi-autobiographical tone poem that quotes from his own prodigious masterpieces. Anna Clyne's imaginative This Midnight Hour, highlighting the power of the lower strings, evokes the journey of a mysterious woman "stripped bare, running mad through the night." Liszt's heady Second Piano Concerto is gorgeous and technically challenging. Jean-Yves Thibaudet brings to it his intense power and quintessential flair.

Tchaikovsky's Fifth Symphony

Fabio Luisi - Conductor

Jeffrey Khaner - Flute

PROGRAM

Sørensen - Evening Land—FIRST PHILADELPHIA ORCHESTRA

PERFORMANCES

Nielsen - Flute Concerto

Tchaikovsky - Symphony No. 5

Italian conductor Fabio Luisi returns to conduct a program that opens with Bent Sørensen's Evening Land. The piece was inspired by an image of the evening light that Sørensen recalled from his childhood in Denmark. Principal Flute Jeffrey Khaner is especially pleased to be performing the Nielsen Concerto. "I love the back and forth in the orchestration; it's a lot of fun to play and listen to!" Famous for its ingenious use of a "fate" theme, Tchaikovsky's Fifth Symphony progresses from a somber beginning to an uplifting, triumphant march in the final movement. It's Tchaikovsky at his soulful best!

Tchaikovsky and Shostakovich

Tugan Sokhiev - Conductor

Lukas Geniušas - Piano

PROGRAM

Firsova - The Garden of Dreams: Hommage to Shostakovich –FIRST
PHILADELPHIA ORCHESTRA PERFORMANCES

Tchaikovsky - Piano Concerto No. 2

Shostakovich - Symphony No. 5

Tchaikovsky's Second Piano Concerto may be overshadowed by his more famous First, but it's the piece that earned Lukas Geniušas top honors at the Tchaikovsky Competition. Balanchine, too, recognized its consummate beauty, choosing it as the score for his tribute to classical Russian ballet. The government decided what was art when Shostakovich wrote his vehement and complicated Fifth Symphony under an oppressive Soviet regime (and threat of the Gulag). Elena Firsova—blacklisted and exiled from the Soviet Union in the latter part of the 20th century—pays tribute to her compatriot with The Garden of Dreams. Tugan Sokhiev, music director of the Bolshoi Theatre, leads this incisive program.

An American in Paris

Ludovic Morlot - Conductor

PROGRAM

Gershwin - An American in Paris (complete with film)

George Gershwin's Jazz Age tone poem An American in Paris both inspired the now-classic Hollywood movie and provides the score for its groundbreaking finale: a dreamy—and, at 17 minutes, unheard of—ballet sequence starring Gene Kelly and Leslie Caron. The 1951 film, directed by Vincente Minnelli, swept the Academy Awards, winning six Oscars, including Best Picture. The music also features

George and Ira Gershwin standards like "I Got Rhythm," "'S Wonderful," and "Love Is Here to Stay." See the film in its entirety with the lush sound of The Philadelphia Orchestra performing the score live.

Printing, Mailing, and More!

GIVE TO GIVE AUCTION ITEMS

For those who want to simply make a contribution, check out the Give to Give items!

Bid on items in this special section during the Silent Auction. The highest bidder at the close of the Silent Auction will have the winning bid amount added to their invoice.

After the auction, Rotary will have local social services and/or police departments identify persons in the community who could benefit by having these items donated to them.

IMPORTANT: The winning bidder WILL NOT be given the items.

A SPECIAL SECTION OF THE SILENT AUCTION WILL CONTAIN THE "GIVE TO GIVE" ITEMS

Glenfiddich Single Malt Scotch Whiskey

"Think a bourbon heart can't hold a single malt soul? Glenfiddich 14 Year Old Bourbon Barrel Reserve marries the sweet intensity of bourbon with the smooth complexity of Scotch. Matured in ex-bourbon American Oak casks for 14 years, the whiskey is then finished in deep charred new American Oak barrels."

- Distiller's Notes

Region: Speyside (Spicy and Delicate). Speyside is home to almost half of Scotland's distilleries and produces whiskies known for their elegance and complexity.

Acknowledgments

This benefit auction is a result of the work by many volunteers and contributors. It would not be possible without them.

With gratitude to:

Rotarians and our business community who generously offered donations for the auction.

Rotarians who gave their time to contact the business community for donations.

Rotarians and Interactors who helped with setting up and during the auction.

Our auctioneers, Sandy Alderfer and Lon Clemmer.
This event is not possible without you.

The team from Alderfer Real Estate, Saralyn Alderfer-Nyce and Michelle Hunsberger.

Jim & Helen McGowan and Promotions by Mail for their printing services.

The Indian Valley Country Club for providing the facility, food, and assistance in planning.

Robin Long and Kate Christie for their creative talents.

The Auction Committee for giving of your time, talents, and ideas.
