GUEST SPEAKER

Our guest speaker was Penny Nisson from the Mizel Museum located 400 S Kearney St.

The museum does Holocaust education. Through the lessons of the Holocaust, they address the issue of anti-Semitism and racism to combat hatred and genocide. They do this through living lessons, movies, and special events.

The museum also addresses social justice. They confront issues of discrimination and injustice to promote equality, cultural awareness, and respect. They are able to do this through programs, special events, and exhibits.

The museum also looks at contemporary Jewish culture. They celebrate contemporary Jewish culture through artistic expression in order to inspire social transformation and civic engagement. Again, this is done through programs, special events, and exhibits.

The museum can be accessed through their web site which is <https://mizelmuseum.org/>. Visits and tours can only be done by appointment. This can be done through their web site.

THIS DATE IN HISTORY

1619 FIRST LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY IN AMERICA CONVENES IN JAMESTOWN

In Jamestown, Virginia, the first elected legislative assembly in the New World—the House of Burgesses—convenes in the choir of the town's church.

Earlier that year, the London Company, which had established the Jamestown settlement 12 years before, directed Virginia Governor Sir George Yeardley to summon a "General Assembly" elected by the settlers, with every free adult male voting. Twenty-two representatives from the 11 Jamestown boroughs were chosen, and Master John Pory was appointed the assembly's speaker. On July 30, the House of Burgesses (an English word for "citizens") convened for the first time. Its first law, which, like all of its laws, would have to be approved by the London Company, required tobacco to be sold for at least three shillings per pound. Other laws passed during its first six-day session included prohibitions against gambling, drunkenness, and idleness, and a measure that made Sabbath observance mandatory.

The creation of the House of Burgesses, along with other progressive measures, made Sir George Yeardley exceptionally popular among the colonists, and he served two terms as Virginia governor.
