

The Rotary Club of Boulder Valley - May 5, 2026

Meeting 12 Noon to 1:30, SEEC S372

Mark Burnett, Our President 2025 - 2026

Fellow Rotarians,

As I mentioned at this week's meeting, I recently spent a few days in California celebrating my nephew's 18th birthday. While I was there, I spent some time with my brother — I may have mentioned him a few times in other writings.

He had run into some issues setting up his new MacBook and needed some help. After a few fits and starts, we eventually got things back to where he needed them to be. Now, one thing worth noting about this brother: he is not a fan of technology — or change, for that matter. He owns an iPhone, yet he rarely texts and has no interest in setting it up for email. He has email on his computer, but based on what I could observe, he doesn't send or receive much there either. Honestly, he is a little baffled by why people bother with any of it when you could just pick up the phone. One of the things he wanted to do this weekend was to buy a new iPhone since his battery was dying and the screen was cracked. But by the end of the weekend, he had decided that since he didn't use the features on the one he had, he really didn't need to upgrade after all.

So how does any of this connect to something bigger? Bear with me.

In 1776, roughly 90% of the working population was involved in agriculture. Today, that number is around 2%. In 1980, barely 1% of workers used a personal computer. As of 2026, approximately 60% use one daily, with nearly 92% requiring some form of digital skills to do their jobs. Page layouts that required a week of work in 1980 could be done in hours just a few years later. Spreadsheets once calculated by hand — or on a 4-function calculator — are now automated in programs like Excel. When I was in Australia, it took about a week to receive a letter from the US, and a phone call home was genuinely expensive. Now I can not only talk with someone on the other side of the world, I can see them in real time, for essentially nothing.

The gains these technologies have offered us are profound — and society-changing.

The anxiety around AI today is not new. In my opinion, it rhymes almost exactly with what some people experienced in the mid-1980s when personal computers began reshaping entire industries. (BTW, there is an interesting documentary on Netflix called 1975 that may resonate with some of you on this point.) That era brought real productivity gains — and real job displacement. And yet, despite those changes, most of the working population kept working. New jobs were created. What's interesting is that all those efficiency gains didn't translate into more leisure time. People were simply expected to do more.

This brings me to something I came across recently — a Stanford seminar where they were interviewing Brendan Foody of Mercor. He and his co-founder are the youngest self-made billionaires in the world, each worth around $2.2 billion based on their 22% ownership stake in a company now valued at about $10 billion.

Oh — and the company was founded in January 2023.

The through-line connecting my brother's reluctance to embrace technology, the near-disappearance of agricultural labor over two centuries, and a 22-year-old building a billion-dollar company in under three years is the same one it has always been. Change doesn't wait for consensus. It never has. The question — for Rotarians, for anyone — is simply how we choose to show up for it.

Here are a couple of LINE messages that came in from Toshi (YNRC) this week.

2 parts for us to think about - does our club want to do something special for visiting club members (Ann and I certainly will if nothing bubbles up from BVRC) and secondly, how do we want to respond to Tommy wanting to plan for more international cooperation.

"Looks like the Yamagata mayor's visit to Boulder has been scheduled. They'll arrive on September 28 and leave on October 1, so it's a 3-night stay. A few people from our club are planning to join, and I'm also planning to attend for now. I'll let you know once more details are confirmed.

I've added the candidate for the 2027-2028 president, who's planning to visit Boulder, to the LINE group. His name is Makoto Ito.

Also, as we head into the new fiscal year, I think it's a good time for us to discuss whether there are ways we can support next year's activities, especially if any service projects will need a budget. Tommy will be the International Service Chair next year, and we're also hoping to expand the Epic Day of Service activities in our district."

Thanks for thinking about this.

Scholarships for Study Abroad Programs at CU

The BVRC Foundation recently awarded 4 scholarships to students participating in "Study Abroad" programs at CU. We are always impressed by the students' applications and thought you might be interested in knowing a bit more about the outstanding students we selected. We hope to have all 4 students visit our meeting after they return from their studies abroad.

We awarded 3 scholarships for students going abroad this Summer

Lydia is going to Costa Rica to study tropical ecology. Lydia was a Rotary Exchange student to Italy during her sophomore year in high school. She also attended 2 years of RYLA camp and then another year as a junior counselor. She has also volunteered with Americorps. When she moved to Colorado she became a member of the Del Norte Rotaract Club. She has always loved traveling and experiencing new cultures and is very excited to go to Costa Rica. How could we not give her a scholarship?

Amanda is going to Tokyo. Amanda will graduate with a major in Communications and double minors in Journalism and Leadership Studies. She has a GPA of 3.9 and works as a CMDI Ambassador 4-5 hours/week. She chose the Tokyo program because she wants a life-changing opportunity to immerse herself in Japanese culture and diverse communication. She is excited for this opportunity in Tokyo because it will allow her to branch further into cultural communication and how it shapes the way we see the world.

Colin is going to Costa Rica to participate in an Ecotourism program titled Coffee & Belonging in Costa Rica. Colin wrote " Anthropological fieldwork is an avenue of understanding political and social phenomena that will benefit how I approach relationships, education, and a future career in politics. I would love to study abroad in Costa Rica to nurture International knowledge and improve my skills in Spanish through immersion. This program, ties to my goals in understanding International affairs through a focus on cultural understanding and the implications of global socio-political structures." Colin has been volunteering with migrant families in Aurora assisting them with citizenship processes, education, basic needs. By organizing food and clothing donations, distributing translation resources and providing Child Care during educational program he has built relationships and perspectives that form threads of his identity.

We awarded 1 student a scholarship to study abroad during the FALL SEMESTER. He is going to Singapore to study at National University of Singapore (NUS). NUS is a nationally acclaimed engineering program. It will provide him with the opportunity to learn from and network with some of the brightest engineering students and faculty in the world. He felt that Singapore was as different from Boulder as possible; a lush Asian metropolis vs. a small western mountain town. He greatly values exploration and new experiences. He has been an English tutor for a college student in Ukraine for the past 4 years. He is also very involved with Engineers without Borders (EWB) on the CU campus. He is the EWB Rwanda project manager at CU. He leads the design and implementation of a rainwater catchment system to be constructed in rural Rwanda this summer. While in Singapore he intends to spend his weekends exploring Thailand, Malaysia, Indonesian and the Philippines. He eagerly awaits the eye opening experiences he'll have with the diverse array of people he will connect with during his time at NUS.

We need 1 or 2 more Rotarians on our selection committee. Please contact Jane Engel if you are interested.

BolderBoulder 10K Race Volunteers

Our club will again be volunteering to assist with passing out drinks during the race. As in previous years our site will be the Mile 3 Aid station at 19th and Floral. The race is Memorial Day May 25th and volunteers are needed to arrive at 6:00am and we will finish around 11:00. If you haven't helped before, I would describe the event as high energy, a party, chaotic, perpetual motion, and fun. For each volunteer our club will receive a donation to our Club Foundation. Kellie Martindale and I will be running the station. All volunteers must register for the event which will give you the opportunity to also order your shirts for the event. The registration for our specific group (BoulderValley Rotary Club) is below. https://www.letsdothis.com/us/o/156050/checkout/ticket?eventId=265326&utm_source=reserved_entry&occurrenceId=21111173769&reservationCode=re_razvz9wtgoux epicdayofservice.org organized by Rotary Clubs for communities worldwide

Our project for Rotary's EPIC Day of Service is now live, and members can sign up to participate.

This year, we will be volunteering at the food bank at the Emergency Family Assistance Association (EFAA) in Boulder. During the project, volunteers will help sort, inspect, and organize approximately 20,000 pounds of donated food so it can be prepared for distribution to local families experiencing food insecurity.

EFAA plays a vital role in the Boulder community by providing food, housing stabilization, and other essential services to individuals and families in need. By helping process these donations, our volunteers will directly support EFAA's ability to ensure that nutritious food reaches households that need it most.

No prior experience is required. Volunteers should be comfortable standing, lifting light to moderate boxes, and working as part of a team.

We hope you will join us for this meaningful day of service.

Sign up today to participate.
