NEXT MEETING

NO MEETING NEXT TUESDAY MORNING

Our regular weekly meeting on Tuesday 30th June has been moved to dinner on Thursday 2nd July.

SPECIAL EVENT – IFTAR DINNER – 4.45pm

This event is now fully booked.

CHANGEOVER DINNER

Last night members, spouses and partners were treated to a Change-Over dinner that foretells more than just a change of office bearers is in store for the next 12 months.

Incoming District Governor Julie Mason and Assistant Governor [Batman Cluster] Ian Salek joined us for the celebration, which included a most enjoyable musical interlude by pianist Peter Sullivan.

The Melbourne Savage Club was the venue. [see separate item below]

In his review of the past 12 months President Roy said;
"Let me say at the outset that I started the year with my normal mix of cynicism, apprehension at too much process, the strong belief that good people will always do good things AND that good people are the backbone of Rotary. I haven't really changed. We have a club full of good people – people who work hard and unselfishly, people who put in, people who are connected, who are trained and who are intelligent. So how can we lose?"

To be president of this club is mostly about letting all these clever, motivated, good people get on with it. And they did – the membership as a whole and particularly the board and the chairs of the various committees.

So my main purpose is to say thank you to them one and all....." MORE

A full copy of Roy's review heads up the excellent annual report produced by Marjorie – electronic form available on request to the Secretary.

New president George gave examples of his well considered strategic plan to place the

THE MELBOURNE SAVAGE CLUB

Established in 1894, the Melbourne Savage Club is one of Australia's oldest and most atmospheric private members clubs.

The clubhouse is an historic 19th century mansion right in the heart of Melbourne.

The club's name reflects the desire of the founders to encourage a flowering of Bohemian tradition, like the London Savage Club, by taking the name of Richard Savage, a free-spirited 17th century English poet.

These origins are expressed today through club members who engage in a broad range of interests across the arts, literature, science and sport.

A diverse mix of academics and artists, lawyers and judges, businessmen and journalists is to be found behind the clubhouse's scarlet doors, enjoying one another's company amid classic décor and furnishings, fine art and exotic artefacts.

TONY AND MARGARET AT THE FINCHCOCK MUSICAL MUSEUM, KENT

This abridged note from Tony Thomas may be of interest to the organ enthusiasts in our club community.

".....Curator David Steed invited Tony to put the museum's rare and priceless keyboards through their paces. Tony obliged with a Handel fugue and pronounced the instruments to be in good shape. The museum has 70 instruments of which 30 are playable."

For Tony skeptics -Editor notes that while Tony may be our club shorthand expert his skills do not stretch to playing the organ. However the Finchcock Museum allows anyone to sit at several of their collection, and since it is Tony's 75th birthday today we will indulge him!
