Rotary Minute

- ❖ Rotarians understand that the whole world is their backyard!!
- ❖ They can see the effects of climate change in communities they care about — and are tackling the problem the way they always do: coming up with projects, using connections to change policy — and planning for the future.
- ❖ We continue looking at “Drawdown: The Most Comprehensive Plan Ever Proposed to Reverse Global Warming,” which ranked solutions from 1 to 80 based on their potential to avert or reduce greenhouse gas emissions.
- ❖ Regenerative agriculture practices include avoiding the use of plows to keep from disturbing the soil; planting a diverse array of cover crops; and limiting or abstaining from pesticides and synthetic fertilizers. These methods boost the amount of organic matter — carbon — in the soil, improving its health and that of the plants growing in it.

- ❖ By reducing the need for fertilizer, regenerative agriculture can help cut carbon in the atmosphere while increasing farmers’ production.
- ❖ Forty people from Meihua village, Taiwan, were trained in organic farming techniques through a global grant project of the Rotary clubs of Taipei Lungmen, Taiwan, and Patumwan, Thailand.
- ❖ The effort, carried out in partnership with the Organic Farming Association of Taiwan, included creating a training facility and providing internships at organic farms. Organizers expected that growing without pesticides would lower farming costs and that selling organic vegetables at a premium price would improve villagers’ earnings.
