

May 19th Program: Bruce Monighan, Monighandesign

By Ken Wilson

Prior to founding monighandesign in 1982, Bruce's early work was historic preservation in Sacramento and the north state. The firm originally established worldwide experience in retail and California based historic preservation and later expanded into several types of projects.

He is currently the Urban Design Manager for the City of Sacramento. He has been working on Sacramento's Rails Project for the past 2 years which is a conceptual plan for developing 198 developable acres of the Old Sacramento Railyards area.

Included in the project is a Kaiser hospital facility, Park, a possible MLS Soccer Stadium, residential, commercial and social outdoor areas where the public can enjoy the new scenes around the historic old brick buildings. Residential projections vary from concept to concept from 6,000 units up to 15,000 units if necessary. Most of the shopping would be around the old rail buildings. The project encourages and facilitates more bicycle friendly transport as well as walking. Building height will be similar to old town heights to keep with the "Old Town" historic feeling.

There will be lots of tree lined streets and parks that will be wheelchair accessible for those that are mobility challenged. The rails will still be used for travelers, freight, and potentially High Speed Rail Transit.

If accepted, the project could start in the near future. Kaiser could be completed by 2024. For more information, contact Bruce Monighan at bmonighan@cityofsacramento.org.

Mud Day?

I've gotten off school for snow days. Lately, there have been days off for floods. But, a mud day??

A few years ago, the mud walls of the Mafi Zongo E.P. Basic School (primary school) in Ghana gave way after severe rainstorms. Remind anyone of Oroville? Students were moved to a thatched-roof shed at a nearby church for safety, but not much learning went on.

The Rotary Club of Ho (Volta region in southeastern Ghana) raised $15,000 to build a two-classroom, concrete block schoolhouse that opened last summer. Student attendance has increased, as has learning. This is important because, if they aren't in school, Ghanaian children end up working (1.8 million children – 34% – of children from 5 – 14 are child laborers).

PS—I worked on a construction project in Ghana and it's not even up to Mexican standards. OSHA??

Bill's Box

We have a new Rotarian member, Elizabeth Munguia. It was wonderful learning about her past and how she came to West Sacramento. Welcome! We also had another proposed member, Joe Villanueva, in the line-up. His induction date has not been finalized, but look for it soon. Thank you Tim Kwong for your outstanding efforts this year, and as always.

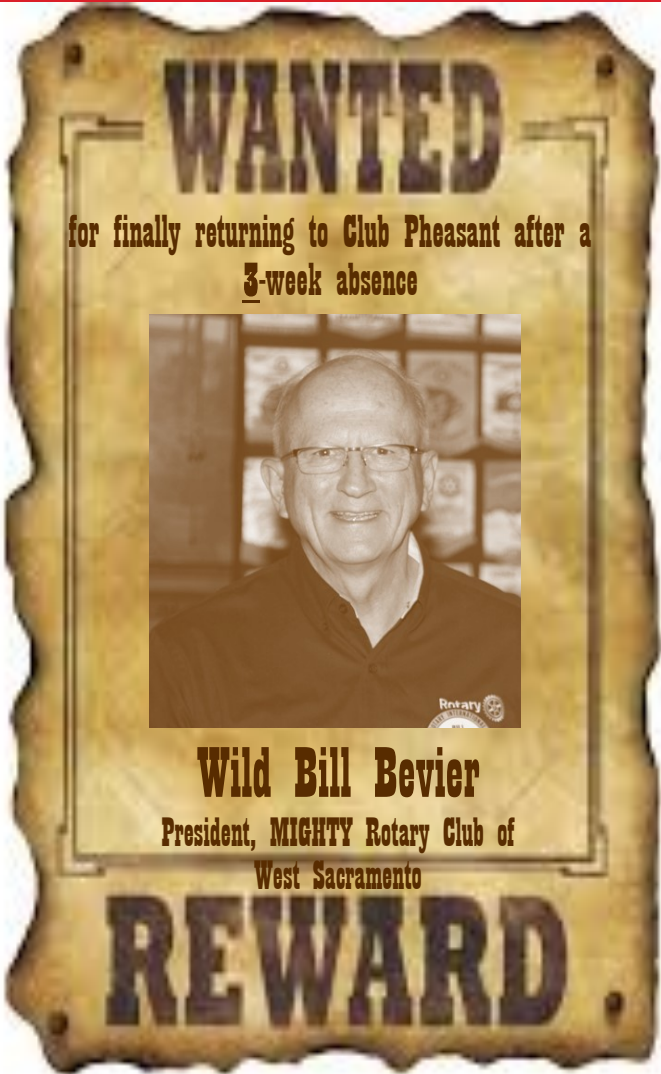

We had a great program presented by Bruce Monighan on the Sacramento Railway Development. I particularly liked his comments about Sacramento working with West Sacramento on vitalizing the riverfront area as a common effort.

This Friday is the Memorial Day Weekend. We are still holding our regular meeting. Hopefully all will attend. This week we have Dan Ramos and Sandy Smoley presenting the program on the Tower Bridge, the notable link connecting Sacramento and West Sacramento.

There are a lot of planned events in the last couple months of the Rotary year. Our club's demotion dinner, Scott's on the River Bike Ride, Elk Grove's Golf Tournament, etc. etc. Look on the web for more details.

It was good to see Helena Gilbert, our RYE student, and her new host family, Cindy Castronovo at the meeting. Helena will be with us until mid-July before returning home. We will see her again before she leaves.

See you this Friday. Rotary Up!, Bill

WILD BILL'S

OPENING REMARKS FROM THE MEETING

It seems like I haven't been here for three weeks, and that's right—however I was with my family for the birth of my grandson, at the District Conference in Santa Clara, and we had a Vocational Visit at the Culinary School. It was a good conference. I heard a lot about what other clubs are doing. But our club made the impression with the Hall of Fame Inductee Dave Wilson, Rookie of the Year Lee Harris, Membership 10+ Award thanks to Tim Kwong, lots of Blood Donors, and our RYE student Helena. This makes me VERY proud to be the 68th President of the Mighty Rotary Club of West Sacramento.

4 Way Test

2. Is it FAIR to all concerned?
