

Katie Villegas

Yolo County Children's Alliance (YCCA)

Established in 2002, the YCCA supports families to protect and empower children. Their goal is to help families, primarily non-English speaking families, access services that provide support for families, home visits for pregnant mothers and families with newborns, education parents, and advocate for these families needs in the community. These services include: access to food, income tax assistance, insurance enrollment and navigation, childcare facility matching, and early childhood development and education opportunities. Katie highlighted the Play School Experience, a weekly opportunity for kids to "bond and enjoy quality time with your child and other parents through fun and educational activities aimed at promoting children's early development and enhancing readiness for school. For more information on the Yolo County Children's Alliance, you can visit any one of their three locations in West Sacramento, Davis, and Woodland, or visit their website www.yolokids.org. You can also follow check them out on Facebook on the YoloCountyChildrensAlliance page or follow them on twitter @YCCAfortheKids.
