Guest Speaker – Simon Green, Publisher Highlife

Simon has a sales background and was Group Manager of Rural Press, SH. Broke with tradition as most appointments were journalists.

Grew up in the Eastern Suburbs. When he and his family moved to the Highlands acquired a 25 acre farm in Sutton Forest. Began working in the highlands at 2ST. However after a 12 year career in radio moved to SHN.

Commenced in newspapers in Goulburn, when the paper was purchased by Rural Press. After 10 years with Rural Press/Fairfax bought the Highlife Magazine.

Reinvigorated passion for print media. Several years ago started Escape Magazine, which is a 148 pages promotion of SH activities. Highlife Property is the latest venture.

The future of publishing is about TRUST.

Simon is very proud of the production team at the Highlife

Community newspapers have a future, more than likely with local ownership.

Q&A

To promote a cause, tell stories rather than membership drives. If you want to promote causes, make it local focused. Develop a website, that makes it easy to become a member. Need to tell the story.

Joker Draw

John Elder drew the 9 Hearts.

Treasurer is getting the hang of the draw, and now always wears long sleeves.
