Water, water everywhere!

SheenRu Yong, a visiting artist with PlayBuilders of Hawaii, spoke to the club on Monday and shared with us details of a community collaborative theater project she is developing here called "Flood: Turn the Tide."

Yong, who is originally from St. Louis, has worked in Taiwan where a four-month workshop she initiated and lead resulted in a performance entitled "The Re-Source Project." She showed a video of participants, some professional dancers, some amateurs using sensory information to create the performance.

"If we share what's been given, what other possibilities can we create?" Yong asks. Water is a world resource, and in her current project, "Flood ...," she hopes to create a platform for conversation about issues surrounding water. She will do this through island-wide panels of community members, story circles, and other events to provide multiple means of expression. Performances of "Flood..." will be held in Hawaii in October and November of this year. Yong will then take the work to Taiwan.

How can we help? Yong asks for our water stories as well as assistance with funding and facilities for rehearsal.

February 21, 2015

Aloha,

Rotarians will celebrate 100 years of Service Above Self in Hawaii, when the Rotary Club of Honolulu marks its Centennial July 1, 2015 through June 30, 2016. The milestone will be marked by a special section of the Honolulu Star-Advertiser, which will be included in the July 1st issues of major newspaper publications statewide.

The special section will feature stories, photographs, and an overview of all Rotary Clubs in District 5000, as well as a chronicle of the evolution of the 'mother club'. We need and welcome your support!

The Honolulu Star-Advertiser and the Rotary Club of Honolulu invite you and or your business and others in the community, to purchase an ad in this supplement to demonstrate the appreciation and support of Rotary's impact in communities at home and around the world. This is an excellent opportunity to take advantage of the special package pricing offered by the Honolulu Star-Advertiser.

Jay Higa, Director of Advertising/Business Development and Honolulu Star-Advertiser Associate Publisher, will be our contact for this project. If you are interested in being a valued part of this statewide Centennial keepsake, and want to take advantage of the preferred Early-Bird rates, please contact Jay at (808)529-4712 or through email at jhiga@staradvertiser.com.
