We welcomed Jeremy Quinn, (double-check spelling of last name as it may include just one "n") a futurist with a firm toe-hold on reality as it is evolving. Both an Army and Navy veteran as well as a former paratrooper, Jeremy spoke about the future of biomedical research and scientific discovery that will affect us all in the very near future. He introduced us to CD-SEAS, a non-profit organization that is engaged in the "synthesis and Evaluation of Antimicrobials in Space."

What, in this world, does this mean? It means that this Hawaii-based organization's goal is to improve antibiotic effectiveness in space for astronauts and...ultimately... to develop new treatments for those of us who are earth-bound.

What is the future of biomedical research? Hold your breath...Research is unbound by the past and a call to those who understand that the opportunities as well as the threats of the future are ours to explore in real-time. Take a deep breath and a short next step on YouTube. View CD-SEAS Mission to Space - YouTube, a two minute and forty second peak at the future. WcJeremy also encouraged us to look up Team Rubicon. Team Rubicon unites the skills and experiences of military veterans with first responders to rapidly deploy emergency response teams. Who knows, if you join you might even get to meet Prince Harry. Go to <http://www.teamrubiconusa.org/> for a lot of really good information.

Also wanted to let you know that the District Conference early registration fee deadline has been extended to December 31, 2015. See flyer attached.

One of the conference keynote speakers is Deepa Willingham of the Rotary Club of Santa Ynez Valley, who was recognition on International Women's Day as a woman who works tirelessly on behalf of others, and whose efforts touch lives across the world, often in remote and inhospitable places.

Willingham is founder and chair of PACE Universal (Promise of Assurance to Children Everywhere), a nonprofit organization that educates girls in the world's poorest areas and works to prevent child trafficking. Working with Rotary clubs around the world, the center she formed provides education, microloans, health care, clean water and sanitation, and community infrastructure. "Together, we have created a site that is affecting the lives of 30,000 to 40,000 people," Willingham says.

Check the district website at rotaryd5000.org for more conference information (link on the bottom section of the home page.)

Happy Holidays!
