Just Add Water.

This week's guest speakers were Colin Percival, Project Manager for the Southern Seawater Desalination Expansion Project at Binningup and Water Corporation's Community Engagement Officer, Natasha Glass. Natasha gave an overview of where WA is in terms of a growing population and future plans to become less reliant on rain water and choosing climate independent sources. This was followed by Colin Percival who explained how desalination worked and talked us through the development of the Expansion Phase of the project.

SPECIAL GUESTS AND SOME FUN AND GAMES

Our special guests this week, included our guest speakers, but we also welcomed RYE student Mami Imaoka, from Osaka in Japan. Mami was introduced to a number of members before joining her host “mum and dad” , Val and Trevor Wilson for dinner. Mami has commenced school at Manea College and will get “on safari” late next week.

Well here is the evidence if ever you doubted that Len eats buns for a living. Not 1 not 2 but 3- and he hid another because he couldn't balance it! Ever thought of becoming a baker!

COMMITTEE REPORTS

Trevor Wilson, International and Community; Requested that if any members were doing something interesting or going anywhere locally, that RYE student , Mami was not exclusive to host families.

Give a Dame; Give a can is on this Sunday and Trevor needs one more ute and a couple of extra helpers.

President Stephen Hinton; On Sunday 19 May is Assembly day for all up and coming or incoming committee members. The day is designed to give members with responsibilities some insight into their role and responsibilities. Sandro will organize a bus to transport members from Bunbury to Collie.

Family of the late Eric Hodgson, thanked members for the respect shown to them and Eric with the Guard of honour last week.

WEEKLY COMPETITION

Len Andel sold over 84 tickets tonight. On this day in 1770, the first burial took place on Australian soil. On this day Osama bin Laden was killed. Some were not so sure?

The Jackpot remains and will go up next week to over $150. Prize winners this evening were Cedric Getley, Murray Harris and Clive Pearson.

FINES THIS WEEK

No fine master this week – so everyone was fined to stay silent.

MORE ABOUT DESALINATION

The desalination plant was built on a disused lime quarry site after extensive environmental impact studies in 2009 with the second stage being completed in 2012.

The process begins at the seawater intake towers, where water is gravity fed to the on shore processing plant. The water goes through a micro-filtration plant, similar to a bundle of straws made from very expensive membranes. Following this it goes through the reverse osmosis procedure to remove salt and particles. Colin said the water produced by this process is so clean it would make us sick, so the next stage is where minerals are added.

A by-product of the desalination process is a brine substance that contains the salt and particles and this is pumped back into the ocean. The salinity of the water at this diffuser point is monitored stringently for its impact on marine environment. Colin pointed out that this testing had to occur daily because there were seasonal changes to the natural salinity levels off our coast. The desalinated water is pumped to Harvey where it joins the SW Integrated System, distributing drinking water to Perth, Mandurah and Kalgoorlie. Colin and Natasha fielded a range of questions indicating the level of interest generated by their talk.

Clive Pearson thanked Colin and Natasha for their very interesting presentation and presented them with Rotary pens.
