Assistant Governor's Notes

Our AG, Michael Bermann told us about his meeting with the Clubs in his Group. Each Club has various projects on the go and the general consensus was that we need to help promote each clubs' endeavours. He particularly referred to Mill Point and Como who have a joint project running as an example of cooperation.

GUEST SPEAKER: Mark Bradstreet - Ngala Representative

Mark Bradstreet, one of delegates from Ngala, gave a brief introduction to himself & his responsibilities at Ngala.

Mark is the Business Development Manager & is also involved in Financial & Strategic Planning at Ngala.

Ngala are currently introducing a new Early Learning Development program in the Claremont area, where pre-schoolers interact with the elderly (similar to the show on TV recently)

Prior to joining Ngala Mark was with Red Cross & Make a Wish Foundation.

Mark comes from London, has been here some 15 yrs. He is married with 2 daughters (7 & 9), who are Lego Fanatics.

Mark also interacts with a men's group involving Mental Health.

He lists Travel & Red Wine as interests.

Mark should fit in very well at Ascot Rotary.

Thanks Mark.

VOLUNTEERS ARE STILL NEEDED:

We need everyone's support, so please make sure you have advised Ann Bermann of your availability. We all have friends and relations who may be willing to help.
JUST ASK THEM.

THIS WEEKS CHUCKLE

An Irish ex seaman dies with instructions to be buried at sea.
His wife went to Seamus O'Malley the undertaker who informs her that he'd never done a burial at sea, but he had friends who would help him out.
He later told her to be at the quayside at 10-00 the following day.
On arrival she found a 30ft rowing boat at the quayside complete with 10 strong men at the oars and her husband's coffin on a central platform.
She steps aboard and Seamus tells the men to start rowing into the Irish sea.

After 15 minutes Seamus shouts "Stop lads, I'll check it here", and jumps into the sea.
"No good here lads it's only up to my waist, row a bit further "
This they did and after 10 minutes, Seamus shouts " Stop lads I'll check here", and again jumps into the sea.
" No good here lads, he says it's only up to my neck, row a bit further", which they did.

After 20 minutes Seamus again shouts, "Stop lads, I'll check it here" and jumps into the sea.
He plummets down and down and reaches the seabed, jumps up and down a few times and returns to the surface.
" It's perfect here lads", he says, "pass me a shovel " !!

Welcome to my first Bulletin. Hopefully as I dispose of the Trainer Wheels it will become more informative and professional. The next step in losing the Trainer Wheels is updating Facebook and the website. Later this week.
