Bulletin

No 35 20th April. 2015

Only sixteen members present tonight, quite a few travelling overseas.

We again welcomed along Sheila Mills who is becoming a regular visitor.

Michael Metcalf has everyone enthused and geared up for our annual Anzac Day Breakfast where this year we are catering for an unprecedented 700 people. Preparation will happen from 1 pm Friday 24th at our club rooms, we are expecting the usual great turnout by members and partners who always come along to make sure our preparations are spot-on, it is a big ask to cook and serve 700 breakfasts in just over 1 hour, but somehow we manage it, preparation is the key.

Welcome back Genevieve and family after an enjoyable week in Bali, if the many photo's posted on Facebook are any indication they had a great time. John and Chris, Bob and Wendy are at present on a cruise ship somewhere near Gallipoli eagerly awaiting dawn on Saturday 25th where the 100th Anniversary of the Gallipoli Landings will be celebrated. We should never lose sight of the countless thousands of Allied lives lost in other campaigns including World War 1, World War 2, Korea, Vietnam, Iraq, Afghanistan plus many other peace keeping campaigns by our allies as well as our own military forces.

Club Meeting 20th April 2015

President Mike welcomed everyone along to our rather depleted meeting tonight, a special welcome to Sheila Mills who has come along once again.

Club Forum tonight, your chance to ask or air any queries or questions you may have for your club executive or administration.

PP Eric Blogg is going to reintroduce ClubRunner to us, PE Max is very keen for us to use the many options ClubRunner has to offer as a way to improve communications with our members.

The Wellard Village Markets recent move to the Town Centre has had encouraging feedback, I have spoken to Creative Communities and they tell me that Peet & Co are keen to continue support for the markets after June 2015.

Thanks to Michael Metcalf for his efforts in putting together our Anzac Day Breakfast project this year. All looks in place for a very successful morning, we need every available person to help out, both on Friday at 1pm to prepare and from 5 am on Saturday morning.

Club Forum tonight.

President Mike invited members around the table to contribute anything that was on their minds to do with our club and or its administration.

About the only subject brought up was that 'it is felt that our Guest Speakers should be held to a time limit of 20 minutes'

While most do adhere to this time limit some do not and tend to go on uncontrolled.

Suggested that Program Manager (I'm sure he does now) inform speakers at the time of engagement that they are limited to 20 minutes plus an allowance for questions.

Also suggested that the sergeant inform speakers that he will be timing their presentation and will sound a gong when 20 minutes are up, giving them time to wind up appropriately.

PP Eric Blogg ClubRunner for Rotary Clubs

Designed by Rotarians ... For Rotarians

ClubRunner is the award-winning membership management and communications software for Rotary clubs, districts and zones. Discover the unique benefits that ClubRunner can bring to your club

Founded in 2003, ClubRunner began as a project by the District 7080 Website Chair, a long time Rotarian and Past President of the Mississauga City Centre Rotary Club in Ontario, Canada. As a software provider for major banks and insurance companies, his company, Doxess Technologies (ClubRunner's parent company), was already using the latest technology to manage online databases, generate dynamic documents and perform time saving work flow functions within an organization.

Working closely with his home District and club, he adapted this experience to the way Rotary clubs work.

Today, ClubRunner continues its investment into the Rotary community by constantly updating and adding new features to improve functionality. In fact, ClubRunner led the way with the RI integration project and was the first vendor to integrate its databases with Rotary International. With the largest user base of any software company within Rotary, ClubRunner shares a close relationship with Rotary International to better align its direction with the future vision of clubs and districts.

An official Rotary International Licensee, ClubRunner serves thousands Rotary clubs and districts just like ours across the globe with one goal in mind – to make technology work for anyone, anywhere while enabling Rotarians to streamline club processes and improve productivity.

More than just a website solution, ClubRunner offers a robust membership management and communication system for clubs and districts in multiple languages. It manages your club or district with features such as attendance reporting, event and volunteer management, directory builder, email broadcast services, and social media integration.

In use by 9 of the first 10 Rotary clubs, ClubRunner is designed for and used by clubs of all sizes. In addition to database management, ClubRunner improves membership retention and growth, public relations and image, and the efficiency of a club's operations. With a dedicated support team, we ensure your club's success through training, support and best practices

Using the latest in web technology, ClubRunner's Content Management System has been geared around the way Rotary clubs operate. Separate sections for managing speakers, news, meeting information, events, members to participate in publishing updates to the website. With our easy to use tools, you no longer require a skilled webmaster to maintain a professional website.

Polio this week 20 April 2015

Finishing What He Started

April marks the 60th anniversary of the announcement that Jonas Salk's inactivated polio vaccine (IPV) was safe and effective; his work is playing a more important role than ever in securing a polio-free future

Some moments in history carry a greater significance than others. Sixty years ago on the 12th of April, a vaccine developed by Jonas Salk proved to be safe and effective in protecting children against polio.

This gave the world one of the critical tools needed to begin the fight against the crippling disease. Since then, the polio program has been one of the most successful public health programs in history, reducing polio cases reduced by 99%. Now, the final 1% is tantalizingly within reach.

As we commemorate Jonas Salk's remarkable achievement, the vaccine that began this journey – the inactivated polio vaccine (IPV) – is playing an important role in the final steps towards eradication, and ensuring that the virus will never be able to return.

Continued below

Finishing What He Started

An incurable threat

For thousands of years, polio was a leading cause of disability, arriving without warning and causing lifelong paralysis. Against the backdrop of increasingly devastating outbreaks in the United States, Jonas Salk was born in 1914. In 1916 alone, over 27 000 people were paralyzed and 6 000 died in America.

In 1928, with ever-higher numbers of cases, iron lungs were introduced to help patients breathe, keeping many alive who would have died only years before. Yet, in many cases, this restricted otherwise healthy people to a life of reliance on these machines.

The discovery that changed the world

In 1908, Dr Karl Landsteiner discovered that polio is caused by a virus. This marked the start of several decades during which understanding of the disease began to grow, setting the stage for scientists to begin to work on a way to prevent it.

At the New York University School of Medicine in 1938, Dr Jonas Salk began to work on an influenza vaccine. Here he learned techniques that would later enabled him to develop the inactivated polio vaccine at the virus research program he launched at the University of Pittsburgh in 1947.

By 1952, Salk and his colleagues announced that they had developed an injectable vaccine against polio. Following small trials in the Pittsburgh area of the United States, Canada, the US and Finland launched trials on an unprecedented scale, involving 1.8 million children. Finally, in April 1955, Salk's vaccine was declared "safe, effective and potent." By 1957, cases in America had dropped by almost 90%, and by 1979, stopped altogether.

With the development of the oral polio vaccine (OPV) by Dr Albert Sabin in 1961, the world was given the tools to both stop outbreaks, and strengthen and build immunity to ensure that children could grow up without the threat of polio.

A global focus

Despite the dramatic impact of the vaccine in America, polio continued to affect some 350,000 people in 125 countries around the world. In 1988, driven by Rotary International who had become crucial advocates in the fight against polio, the World Health Organization, UNICEF, and the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention joined Rotary to launch the Global Polio Eradication Initiative (GPEI).

Since then, the GPEI has supported governments to end transmission of polio globally. The combination of the oral polio vaccine and IPV led to the eradication of polio in the Americas, in the Western Pacific, and Europe. With the declaration of the WHO's South-East Asia Region as polio-free in 2014, 80% of the world's populations now live in polio-free regions – a public health milestone that was unimaginable when Salk first began his work on vaccines.

The role of the inactivated polio vaccine today

Now, on 12 April 2015, as we celebrate the 60th anniversary of the introduction of Salk's IPV we are reminded of more than 10 million people walking today who would otherwise have been paralyzed by polio.

In the past six months, just two countries have reported cases of wild poliovirus: Afghanistan and Pakistan. As a polio-free world comes into sharper focus, Salk's vaccine is once again demonstrating its importance. In 2015, 120 countries are introducing his IPV into their routine immunization systems (some countries, like Nigeria, already have). With the phased removal of OPV crucial in order to completely eradicate all polioviruses, reaching all children with IPV will be essential in securing the gains made against polio for future generations.

New Alphabet:

A is for Apple and B is for boat,
That used to be right, but now it won't float!
Age before beauty is what we said once,
But let's be a bit more realistic instead.

Now The Golden Age Alphabet:

A's for arthritis;
B's the bad back,
C's the chest pains, perhaps car-di-ac?
D is for dental decay and decline,
E is for eyesight, can't read that top line!
F is for farting and fluid retention,
G is for gut droop, which I'd rather not mention.
H high blood pressure--I'd rather it low;
I for incisions with scars you can show.
J is for joints, out of socket, won't mend,
K is for knees that crack when they bend.
L 's for libido, what happened to sex?
M is for memory, I forget what comes next.
N is neuralgia, in nerves way down low;
O is for osteo, bones that don't grow!
P for prescriptions, I have quite a few, just give me a pill and I'll be good as new!
Q is for queasy, is it fatal or flu?
R is for reflux, one meal turns to two.
S is for sleepless nights, counting my fears,
T is for Tinnitus; bells in my ears!
U is for urinary; troubles with flow;
V for vertigo, that's 'dizzy,' you know.
W for worry, now what's going 'round?
X is for X ray, and what might be found.
Y for another year I'm left here behind,
Z is for zest I still have -- in my mind!

I've survived all the symptoms, my body's deployed,
And I'm keeping my doctors fully employed!

Driving into the city this morning on the freeway, I looked over to my right and there was a woman in a brand new red Mazda doing 105 kph with her face up next to her rear view mirror putting on eyeliner. I looked away for a couple seconds shaking my head in disbelief and when I looked back she was halfway over in my lane, still working on her makeup!

Well, it scared me so bad that I dropped my electric shaver, which knocked the doughnut right out of my other hand. In all the confusion of trying to straighten out the car out using my knees against the steering wheel, I knocked my mobile phone away from my other ear, which fell into the coffee mug between my legs and making me scream in pain and DISCONNECTING A VERY IMPORTANT CALL!!! Bloody women drivers!!!!!!!

A sales representative stops at a small manufacturing plant. He presents a box of cigars to the manager as a gift.

"No, thanks," says the plant manager. "I tried smoking a cigar once, but I didn't like it."

The sales rep shows his display case and then, hoping to clinch a sale, offers to take the manager out for a round of drinks.

"No, thanks," the plant manager replies. "You know, I tried alcohol once, but didn't like it."

Then the salesman glances out the office window and sees a golf course.

"I suppose you play golf," says the salesman. "I'd like to invite you to be a guest at my club."

"That's kind of you, but no, thanks," the manager says. "I played golf once, but I didn't like it."

Just then a young man enters the office.

"Let me introduce my son, Mike," says the plant manager.

"Let me guess," the salesman replies. "An only child?"

The Matchmaker goes to see Mr Smith, a confirmed bachelor for many years.

"Mr Smith, don't leave it too late. I have exactly the one you need. You only have to say the word and you'll meet and be married in no time!" says the Matchmaker.

"Don't bother," replies Mr Smith, "I've two sisters at home, who look after all my needs."

"That's all well and good, but all the sisters in the world cannot fill the role of a wife."

"I said 'two sisters,' I didn't say they were MY sisters!"
