President's Message

Dear Rotarians,

I am pleased with the initiatives we launched last month to ensure the club's future. We installed the new Board of Directors, updated our new accounting software for future growth, and streamlined our processes to keep up with all expenses and dues.

President-Elect Selena Swartzfager has booked impressive and informative programs. Sarah Story was the first guest speaker. We are blessed to have so many forms of art in our state. John Michael Holtmann and Ted Duckworth gave us an outstanding assessment of the commercial property in Jackson and the surrounding areas. Our District Governor presented an overview of Rotary in District 6820. He reminded us that we need to dig a little deeper to help our neighbors. There are too many good projects that need our help. Then Stephen Johnston was on point with his statistics on hiring the right person for the right job. Millions of employees are lost each year because they are unhappy or not in the right position. Finally, Keith Carter gave us an update on what Ole Miss has been doing in Oxford and around the state.

What can I say about baseball in Mississippi: Madison Central was the number one high school team in the USA; Mississippi State won it all last year; Ole Miss is the reigning national baseball champion; while Pearl River Community College is the Junior College Baseball Champions. I would say Mississippi knows baseball.

Let's remember to apply The Rotary 4-Way Test to all aspects of our lives in our personal and professional relationships.

Here's to a great September!
