MEETING OF JUNE 5, 2017

Welcome: President Dawn Van Siclen opened the meeting, and Steve "Sunshine" Mott let the Smile song, supported by keyboardist Cathy Choi. Tina Ray shared Words of the Day, Dan Purim led the pledge, and Mott led the singing of God Bless America.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

President Dawn said there WILL be a Rotary meeting on Monday, June 26, despite the Demotion Dinner having been held the Friday prior. She said it will be her final meeting as president and more of a social event—a "passing the gavel" meeting, so to speak. Those who brought members into the club during her year will be recognized.

Annual John Simons Gazebo Bocce Ball Tourney: Nancy Starling recognized Rotarians who helped set up for the tourney: Jim Brubaker and Leslie, Patty Johnson, Kori Dolkas, George Sullivan and Phil Okun. Sullivan then announced what he called the undisputed results, which then were disputed. Brubakers came in second, and he presented the double-ball trophy to Alice and Joe McDermott.

Demotion Dinner: Gloria Foote shooed Pres. Dawn from the room and gave some details about the June 23 Demotion Dinner, to begin at 6 p.m. at the Sheraton. She reminded everyone that each members' fee for the dinner was included in their dues, but spouse/guest cost is $50 each. Wendy Wiegand will send an email with specifics to all but Pres. Dawn. According to Foote, the event will "be like it always is, a little bit crazy and a whole lot of fun."

WHO AM I?

New member Steve Wolff (right) grew up in Chicago and graduated from the University of Missouri with a degree in journalism. He was a newspaper reporter until he decided it would never pay enough. He and his brother went into business together for seven years, and Wolff also started a video production company. Thirty-one years ago, he became a financial advisor. He met his wife at the U of Missouri 45 years ago, and they have two sons and two grandchildren. They have started an endowment fund, and Wolff enjoys golf and writing poetry. He entertained us with one piece of his prose, "An Ode to old Age."

PAUL HARRIS FELLOWS HONORED

Mark Beardsley with President Dawn

Mimi Gaffey with Jeff Wohler

Mimi Gaffey presented Paul Harris pins to Jeff Wohler (his first) and to Mark Beardsley (his fourth), noting that each PH represents a $1,000 contribution to the RI Foundation. She reminded everyone that by signing up to donate an amount (of their choosing) each month via credit card, RI Foundation can continue its amazing works worldwide. Gaffey has all the information.

ROTARY MINUTE

David Harrison showed a short video about the Rotary International Convention coming to Atlanta the following week where he would be attending—The Rotary Foundation will be celebrating its 100th anniversary.

MEMBER PROPOSED

Dawn Hall Cunneen has been proposed as a member of Carlsbad Hi Noon Rotary, with a classification of Law – Estate Planning. Dave Kulchin is her sponsor. Please refer any questions or concerns you may have regarding this application to Dave or to Patty Johnson within seven days of this publication.

ROTO-ROOTER

Phil Urbina didn't even get into his opening spiel before Jeff Wohler's cellphone interrupted him. Urbina issued a fine, then followed that by fining Maureen Simons $50 because son-in-law Sam Ross abused her daughter at the Bocce Ball tourney when he dropped bocce balls on her foot. Alice and Joe McDermott were fined $100 each, then upped to $150, because Urbina had the bocce ball tourney won when he bested McDermott (Joe), then McDermott (Alice) stepped up and beat him with a walk-off win. Ken Clark was fined $50 for his week in Maui; Jos Magaña was fined $25 because he didn't know what "Webelos" meant even though his son is one step away from that rank in scouting (it means: We'll Be Loyal Scouts). Patty Johnson was fined $50 for not remembering all four tenets of the Four-Way Test when she tried to take too much credit for the Bocce Ball tourney setup, and George Sullivan was fined $1 for presenting the trophy to the McDermotts. Josh and LeAnn Rytz were fined $50 for the honors their son won as a pitcher for the La Costa Canyon HS baseball team. Gloria Foote was fined for a busy graduation attendance schedule: granddaughters from Arizona State University and USD Law School and grandsons from USAF Academy and Army boot camp. Finally, Tom Applegate was fined $50 because when he sold his firm the Oktoberfest Committee had to find a new meeting spot. No fine for Mark Beardsley for opening his business for those meetings.

PACIFIC RIDGE SCHOOL BOB OGLE

Jeff Segal introduced Bob Ogle, who has been involved with Pacific Ridge School (PRS) in Carlsbad since a year prior to its opening in 2007. Ogle was co-head of the school until 2013, when he became the head of the school. The private school serves students in 7th through 12 grades, with almost 600 students attending this year. He began his talk by asking everyone to think back to 2007 and to consider what people use in 2017 that was never imagined back then. Items such as Facebook, FitBit, Apple Watch, etc. He said PSR's mission is "to prepare students for college and a purposeful life," and that means preparing them not for what the school thinks the future will hold, but to prepare them to be ready for whatever comes next and to be good members of the community. Ogle said PRS students learn many such skills including the four Cs: communication, collaboration, creativity and critical thinking. In addition to academics, PSR puts a strong emphasis on arts and athletics, club activities, grade-level projects, service learning and global travel. When asked, Ogle said the school's graduation rate and college acceptance rate are each 100 percent.
