Youth4Climate

Megan Phelps is the Program Coordinator for Youth4Climate. She was introduced by Gabe Fasolino of the Rotary La Mision Club in Baja.

Youth4Climate is a program of SanDiego350 which is an organization that is building a movement to prevent the worst impacts of climate change and climate injustice through education and outreach, public policy advocacy, and mobilizing people to take action. Their vision is to reduce our carbon footprint and hold our elected officials accountable for creating a low-carbon, sustainable and just world. The group has formed alliances with social justice, environmental, labor, health, faith and other partners.

Our speaker was Megan Phelps who develops and leads the local San Diego Youth4Climate Program for youth climate leaders. The club was very impressed by Megan's passion for the climate change issue and her professional and fascinating presentation.

There are many causes for global warming but oil drilling, especially its most dangerous forms such as hydraulic fracking, poses a large threat to our communities. Not only is the oil extraction process dangerous, but the pollution of the burning of fossil fuels can be fatal. Even worse, fossil fuels are the main contributor to our current climate crisis and severely endangers current and future generations.

Megan emphasized how increased carbon dioxide levels trap heat in the atmosphere. She advocates for clean energy such as wind and solar. Megan concluded with the truth that no one is more affected by climate change than today's youth that will be forced to live with the consequences.
