Vocational Speaker

Jim Buntin demonstrated some pretty nifty software that he uses when he practices his trumpet. Talk about a gift. The horn he is playing on is from his High School days....a few years ago! Thank you Jim. It was delightful.

Prospector –Audrey SW. was filling in this week. She had prepared her list of questions. Many of us stumbled around trying to answer correctly before we heard the dreaded..."that will be a dollar...or two". Happy fines finished up.

Guest Speaker

Chelyssa addressed some recent political developments at the Capitol until Assemblyman Kevin Kiley arrived. He spoke about redistricting committee matters, the many, many, many changes that keep happening. I forgot when the final version will be out, but it's not too long. Many other capitol happenings were commented on...from the problems at the port, to homelessness etc. He then stayed fielded questions and stayed after the meeting to answer more.

(Apologies for the meeting running way late....members had to leave and that is absolutely understandable.)

Raffle

Russ R. rummaged around the inside of the basket, but with soooo many balls in there, he drew a white one. More for the rest of us next week.
