Vocational Speaker– Rob A. was surprised to be at the podium this morning. But he jumped right in with the work his shop does to take care of their customers who find themselves with a “smushed” car. He advocated for the rights people have to ensure that their car is returned in like condition, not the condition the insurance may deem is acceptable. He is passionate about his work and as someone who has used his services, I can say...you'll find no one better! Thank you Rob.

Prospector –Tommy P. was at the podium hunting for money... fined all Giants fans, Red Hair Day (Jonathan). There were lots of others but I got distracted (I was getting my money ready). Happy Fines ... me for going to New Orleans & Florida, Rob A. for Hawaii for 10 days. Also noted and certainly not happy was a massive fire than burned out Bud & Karis' old home on Blue Oak.

Quote for this newsletter:

Welcome November! This is the month that inspires us to be grateful for all that we have, are able to do and appreciate in others. I challenge each of us to acknowledge something that we are grateful on this day, at this moment. Even in the rain, new growth occurs...The best & most beautiful things in the world cannot be seen or even touched...they must be felt with the heart. So let each of us take the time to listen with our heart instead of our ears.
